Another shot at Oppn unity as Mamata writes to Cong, others

Says BJP is using enforcement agencies to harass its opponents out of vendetta

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kolkata

ACCUSING the BJP of attacking the country's institutional democracy by using central probe agencies, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee wrote to Opposition leaders and chief ministers of non-BJP ruled states urging them to come together and fight the "oppressive force".

The letter written on Sunday was made public on Tuesday. It was also sent to Congress chief ministers and the party's leadership, which was significant because Mamata had in the run-up to the recent polls to five states dissed the grand old party. Saying the UPA alliance is non-existent now, she had criticised the Congress for its inability to keep its flock together, adding it was incapable of providing leadership to an Opposition front.

Taking a fresh lead to forge an anti-BJP alliance ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, she urged the leaders to suggest a suitable time and place to meet to take the process forward. ''I urge that everyone of us come together for a meeting to deliberate on the way forward at a place as per everyone's convenience and suitability. The need for the hour is for all progressive forces in this country to come together and fight this oppressive (the BJP) force. Let us commit to the cause of a unified and principled opposition that will make way for the Government that our country deserves," she said.

Since it is her initiative, Mamata would naturally be the convenor of the meeting, sources in her Trinamool Congress said. In any case, Mamata has already made her ambition clear of becoming the prime ministerial face of the national Opposition coalition. Others in the race for the pole position include Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao.

"I am writing to you to express deep concern over direct attacks on this country's institutional democracy by the ruling BJP. Central agencies such as the ED, CBI, Central Vigilance Commission and the Income Tax Department are being used to target, harass and corner political opponents across the country for vendetta," Mamata said.

The letter comes at a time when her government is facing intense criticism over the Birbhum massacre that left nine persons dead. Also, ED had turned up its heat on her family. The ED summoned her nephew Abhishek Banerjee twice and sent a fresh notice to his wife and sister-in-law asking them to turn up at its office in Delhi in connection with a coal scam.

Abhishek no-show before ED

Abhishek Banerjee, the national general secretary of the Trinamool Congress, skipped the ED's summons to appear on Tuesday in connection with the money laundering case related to alleged coal smuggling in Bengal. He had appeared in the ED's office in Delhi on March 21

PARTIAL DE-ESCALATION AS RUSSIA TO CUT BACK OPS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IN what may be a partial de-escalation of its invasion of Ukraine, Russia said on Tuesday it was cutting back operations near Kyiv and Chernihiv. Ukraine's military acknowledged the withdrawals.

However, the announcement was met with scepticism from the US and others with the Pentagon declining to corroborate Russia's claim.

Russia's deputy defence minister Alexander Fomin said the move is to create trust in the ongoing peace talks to halt the conflict. Several rounds of negotiations have been held so far but in vain. Fomin claimed there was some progress on Tuesday. "Negotiations on preparing an agreement on Ukraine's neutrality and non-nuclear status, as well as on giving Ukraine security guarantees, are turning to practical matters," he said.

Moscow's move to scale down its assault also comes in the wake of reports that Russian troops have become bogged down in the face of stiff Ukrainian resistance

Ahead of the talks, Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said his country was prepared to declare its neutrality. Moscow has demanded that the country drop any hope of joining the NATO alliance, which it sees as a threat. Zelenskyy also said he was open to compromise over the contested eastern region of Donbas.

The month-long war has reportedly killed thousands and displaced over 10 million Ukrainians. P11

River interlink project nixed ahead of Guj polls?

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

AMID intense protest from tribals against the proposed Par-Tapi-Narmada river inter-linking project ahead of the Gujarat election, the BJP leadership is learnt to have put the project on ice. While there was no clear word on whether it has actually been scrapped, Gujarat BJP president C R Patil said the central project was subject to approval from Maharashtra and Gujarat; with permission declined, it is as good as dead.

The decsion to shelve the controversial project was taken at a meeting of Union ministers Amit Shah, Nirmala Sitharaman, Gajendra Singh Shekhawat and tribal MLAs and MPs from the state, Patil said.

Tribals are influential in Gujarat as 27 out of 182 Assembly seats are reserved for STs. They have been protesting after Sitharaman said in her Budget speech that the draft project reports of five river-linking projects, including the one in Gujarat, have been finalised.

With public outrage stalling the river-link project in Gujarat, there is now a question mark on other projects elsewhere in the country. While Patil explained that the project will not be given the go-ahead by the BJP, the Congress and tribal leaders are not convinced.

Gujarat Congress chief spokesperson Manish Doshi said if a decision to kill the project was indeed taken, it should have been announced by the chief minister of the state and not any party leader.

Rahul to visit Siddaganga Mutt, day ahead of Shah

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Tumakuru/Bengaluru

IN a game of political one-upmanship, BJP and Congress leaders are keen to impress the prominent Lingayat community in Karnataka ahead of the Assembly polls.

Senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi is all set to pay a visit to Siddaganga Mutt near Tumakuru on Thursday, a day ahead of the scheduled visit of Union home minister Amit Shah to the mutt to take part in the 115th birth anniversary of Sri Shivakumara Swamiji.

Though the two parties claimed that the visits have got nothing to do with politics, their arrival in the state seems to be the beginning of hectic political activities ahead of the polls.

In fact, Rahul's visit was not preplanned like Shah's and it has been taken up on the advice of KPCC president DK Shivakumar to send out a message that Congress is not averse to Mutts and religious heads, sources said.

The vendor is now bedridden and unable to go to work as he has suffered a broken thumb and several other injuries. The inspector has been suspended and the inquiry is going on, while his junior has been transferred.

Before the assault came to light, a massive coverup operation was taken up to keep the brutality under wraps. The vendor was offered money and threatened to keep quiet, sources in Mandya said.

Urban poor still coping with job, income loss

Domestic workers were worst-hit during lockdown, shows survery

2020 AND AFTER

Survey was done in November 2021 with help of Action Aid, Association for Promoting Social Action, Centre for Advocacy and Research, Hasiru Dala, Gubbachi, Reaching Hand, Sangama, Swabhimaan Trust and Thamate

- 3,000 households in 92 low-income settlements across 33 wards of Bengaluru surveyed
- Drivers, daily wage earners, domestic workers, factory workers covered
- Daily wage earners, domestic workers, retail sector employees worst affected
- Income loss: 41% had no work; 21% reduced earnings even in Jan/Feb 2021
- Unemployment: 10% men, 15% women even as late as October 2021
- Surveyed households have endured almost 19 months of job losses, depressed earnings
- Percentage of households with earnings less than the Anoop Satpathy Committee recommended National Minimum Wage (Rs 119 per person per day) rose to almost 80% before falling back to pre-Covid levels (67%) by Oct 2021
- Food insecurity: 40% were eating less than earlier
- Coped by borrowing, selling assets, pawning jewellery

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JOB and income losses persisted well past the 2020 lockdown, says a Covid impact survey released by Azim Premji University (APU) on Tuesday. The survey, 'Covid-19 and Bengaluru's Urban Poor', showed as much as 41 per cent of workers had no work, and 40 per cent of households reported eating less than they were before the pandemic, 21 per cent had reduced earnings even in January and February 2021, seven months after the first lockdown was lifted.

The report said that daily wage earners, domestic workers and retail sector employees were the worst affected. The study was done in November 2021, in collaboration with nine Civil Society Organisations (CSO) on 12,841 households, which included 10,267 individuals in 92 low-income settlements across 33 wards of Bengaluru.

Workers across a range of occupations such as drivers (cab, auto and others), daily-wage earners (construction and others), domestic and factory workers (garment and others) were surveyed.

The report also noted the access to government support and even coping mechanisms.

Launching the survey findings, Amit Basole, head of the Centre for Sustainable Employment, Azim Premji University, and lead researcher of the survey team, said, "There is a need for a focused and long-term policy response at the Centre and State level to help households emerge from the crisis."

Hyma Vadlamani, a core member of the Covid response team, Azim Premji Foundation, said the pandemic has shown how invisible the poor in the cities are, and how weak public systems are in reaching the neediest and most vulnerable. There is an urgent need to use the survey report and revamp governance systems to address inequities more systemically, the researchers said.

"Unemployment was long-term. A significant minority (10 per cent men, 15 per cent women) were out of work even as late as October 2021 (one-and-a-half years into the pandemic), 21 per cent had reduced earnings even in January and February 2021, seven months after the first lockdown was lifted.

> Unemployment was long-term. A significant minority (10 per cent men, 15 per cent women) were out of work even as late as October 2021 (one-and-a-half years into the pandemic)

Meanwhile, by October 2021, earnings had recovered in nominal terms but adjusted for inflation, and continued to be below pre-Covid levels, which means the households endured almost 19 months of job losses and depressed earnings. While nearly 40 per cent of households reported eating less than they were before the pandemic, households coped by borrowing and selling assets. Many of them had sold or pawned jewellery, while around 12 per cent was unable to borrow, despite pressing needs.

The report, however, stated, "The PDS (ration) was the most important safety net; 55 per cent with BPL cards received more than their regular quantity of grains every month since the second lockdown. Another 32 per cent got additional grains for at least a few months." However, cash transfers did not reach as many people. Women in nearly 78 per cent of households did not have Jan Dhan accounts. "Of those with accounts, 75 per cent reported receiving some transfer, and 40 per cent reported receiving the full amount of Rs 1,500," the survey report said.

Going forward, immediate, medium and long-term policy measures are needed to counter these effects and chart the path to inclusive economic recovery. In addition to continued extra PDS rations (recently extended for another six months), more cash transfers, as well as implementation of an urban employment guarantee programme, are urgently needed.

Citizens seek more green, toilets

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CITIZENS have demanded that Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) provide more eco-friendly spaces, better footpaths and increase the number of public toilets in the upcoming budget, revealed the My City My Budget campaign, organised by Janaagraha.

The budget campaign was held from February 23 to March 20, and it received 7,238 responses. According to the campaign report, 3,290 inputs were received for public toilets (46 per cent), 2,188 for footpath improvements (30 per cent) and 1,760 for parks (24 per cent).

The top three wards which provided budget inputs are Shantala Nagar, Ramamurthy Nagar and Sanjay Nagar. South, East, and Bommanahalli were the top three zones to receive budget inputs.

Srinivas Alavilli, chief, Civic Participation, Janaagraha, said that budget allocations to ward committees is a brand new chapter in participatory budgeting and it is impressive to see deep and meaningful engagement of citizens to make their wards better.

"Local issues are best resolved locally with empowered ward committees and we hope that BBMP will continue to devolve funds to wards and focus on fixing issues raised in this process," he said. "This is the sixth campaign. It shows the enthusiasm of Bengalureans when it comes to the future of the city," said Sapna Karim of Janaagraha. Under the campaign, responses categorised, analysed and shared with the BBMP as reference for the ward engineers as they begin implementing ward-level budgets. The inputs are also being used while preparing the upcoming BBMP budget, which is scheduled in April first week. Citizens provided inputs online at www.mycitymybudget.in and through a Budget Bus, used by more than a dozen resident welfare associations.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

30th March : The current powerful Pluto alignment raises passions - but not dangerously. Some people may go over the edge, of course, but while most of us will feel our emotions stirring, we'll keep them well under control. Discretion is the order of the day for many of us. There might also be a fair number of secrets in the wind.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Mercury's new planetary alignments are bound to bring cheering news, perhaps on the leisure front, possibly to do with some cultural pursuit. Your horizons will soon be broadened and some of your assumptions turned upside down. Contacts with children are also likely to grow easier.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
One problem over recent weeks has been suppressed or misdirected anger, not to mention unjustified or misplaced enthusiasm. Such difficulties are now happily in the past. Sometimes it does no good to blame other people, but that doesn't mean that they do not bear any responsibility.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
One thing saving you at the moment is your charm. You'll be more concerned than usual about other people's needs and interests, and your solicitous approach will be amply rewarded in the weeks to come. And, when that happens, the last pieces of a jigsaw will fall into place.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The Sun is passing through a sympathetic region of your chart indicating that while you still have some freedom of action, fate will also lend a helping hand. It could be an older person who provides the greatest assistance. They could even finally resolve a long-running problem.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
With so much confusion and turmoil surrounding emotional involvements, I am happy to report that Mercury is now sweeping through your chart, engaging in a number of rather surprising encounters. It may even enable you to clarify your ideas at last.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It is true that life is far from plain-sailing but, at times like these, when there is a plethora of reassuring planetary aspects, you can be certain that even apparent obstacles are helping you stick to the true and proper path. It's just that it's not always easy to see what is the right road to follow, while you're actually on it!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You have often been unable to raise adequate funds in the past yet, now that Mars is playing such an important role in your horoscope, you'll redouble your efforts to put your finances on a secure footing. The planets' advice is to get all possible matters in order this week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There is away out of current situations, but you will need to be more determined. There is also no point in being defensive. You may have confidence in all ideas and plans with a professional slant, mainly because your public image looks set to gain more than your private feelings.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Certain boundaries seem to have been blurred recently, what with all the coming and going that's been taking place. If you capitalise on the fact that a number of ties have been weakened, you will be able to let go of them and open more possibilities for the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There is no knowing what the next few days hold in store for you in detail, although in outline the picture is quite clear. You are turning a corner from which there will be no going back. In fact, I'd say that there are no such things as simple, firm facts any more!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Skeletons may be rattling in a few cupboards, but there doesn't seem to be anything to worry about. This is also a prime time for strange, surreal and possibly unsettling dreams. It's all very meaningful! But what the exact meaning is - or isn't - will only become clear next week.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Although you'll have more time for work and chores towards the end of the week, you will probably still be more concerned with culture, the arts, leisure and pleasurable pursuits. Shed a few obligations if necessary, and only stick with commitments which will bring genuine benefits.

Schools to vax kids from April 1

State to go aggressive as just 6.3L got jab

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA will start vaccinating children, aged 12-14 years, in all schools with the Corbevax vaccine from Friday. Those born on or before March 28, 2010, will be eligible for the vaccination.

The state government, which launched the drive from March 16, managed to jab only 6.3 lakh children of this age group compared to its target of 20 lakh.

"The Covid vaccination drive for the age group of 12-14 years is taking place at a slow pace. To accelerate it, the state government has decided to start vaccination in all schools," said Health Minister K Sudhakar on Tuesday.

A circular issued by the government on Tuesday said parent-teacher meetings will be conducted prior to the vaccination to create awareness about the benefits of Corbevax.

Meanwhile, the Health Department has been directed to conduct micro-planning ahead of the drive, to inform eligible children about the date of their vaccination in advance. The drive will be taken up by both the health and education departments jointly.

To ensure Covid vaccination for out-of-school children, the government has directed the Education Department to provide details to the Health and Family Welfare Department.

Vaccination centres in schools will be equipped with three rooms, including an observation room. Wearing masks, using sanitisers and following Covid-appropriate behaviour is mandatory.

For registration, the phone number of parents should be used and, in case the parents do not possess mobile phones, the headmaster's phone number should be used, the circular said. The identity card issued by the school or the Aadhaar card should be used as photo ID proof during the drive. The registration will be done online.

In case a child is suffering from comorbidities, parental consent is mandatory prior to vaccination. Such children should be vaccinated only in government healthcare facilities.

NINGANNA, who was operating unauthorisedly as his licence was yet to be renewed, told the officer to wait. This enraged the inspector, who dragged the vendor to the RPF station on Platform One and rained blows on him with a lathi," said a reliable source. "Ninganna's thumb broke when he tried to protect himself from the blows," the source added. The inspector went home after the incident.

"The other policemen rushed the vendor to a hospital with a bleeding head as they were worried about his survival," the source said.

When Ninganna approached the GRP station and wanted to file a complaint against Aboo, the policemen alerted RPF. "Ramesh, an Assistant Sub-Inspector, GRP, forced the vendor to file a complaint stating that he sustained injuries after falling down on the platform. Ninganna was told that he can conduct his business at the railway station only if he filed the complaint as told," the source said. Aboo told Ninganna that he would take care of medical expenses and also offered to pay Rs 1.5 lakh to Ninganna through a mediator to cover up the case, another source said.

The medico legal certificate, given by the doctor who treated Ninganna, describes injuries as minor. But he is bedridden now and could take at least four months to recover as he has suffered injuries on his spine, hands, head and legs.

Inspector Boro of RPF is carrying out the inquiry against Aboo, while ASI Paramesh has been transferredw from the Mandya Railway Station to Sathya Sai Prashanti Nilayam.

Rahul's visit to kickstart preparations for elections; Grand old party to start strengthening units at block level

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KPCC president D K Shivakumar on Tuesday said his party is prepared to face the electorate in case early assembly elections are held, while cryptically mentioning November 27 as a possible date for announcing elections.

Meanwhile, former AICC president Rahul Gandhi will be visiting the state later this week and will hold a series of meetings with leaders and office-bearers, as the party prepares for assembly elections scheduled next year. "Let the Election Commission announce elections whenever it wants, let them announce it tomorrow, this month or on November 27, whenever they do it the Congress party is ready," Shivakumar said, in response to a question on the possibility of early assembly elections. Quizzed about 'November 27' being the date of announcement, he said, "We too get certain pieces of information, as you journalists get information." The Congress has started a massive membership drive, and is also expected to announce the list of office-bearers sometime soon for the many vacancies in the party.

> Let the Election Commission announce elections whenever it wants... whenever they do it the Congress party is ready

> D K Shivakumar, president, KPCC

Traditionally, the Congress would start preparing for elections about 12 months in advance, and Rahul Gandhi's visit will serve as a soft-launch for preparations for the assembly polls. Congress sources said while the party starts on the positive note of having done well in the recent assembly bypolls in Hangal and the MLC elections, where the party won 11 seats, it is not unmindful of the drubbing suffered in Goa, Uttarakhand, Punjab, Uttar Pradesh and Manipur recently.

Congress sources said the party is strengthening units at the block level, and the recent Mekedatu padayatra has earned it a good connect with voters in the southern areas. Now, the party is looking to launch a campaign for the Mahadayi water issue. Considering the buzz that there could be early polls, the party is ready to start the spadework, and is leaving nothing to chance, sources said.

Congress to protest against price rise

BENGALURU: Workers and leaders of the Congress are slated to hold a protest against price rise on March 31. As part of the unique stir, the leaders are expected to garland their vehicles and carry gas cylinders outside their houses. A Congress leader said videos and photos of the protest would be tagged on social media, and shared with Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

After Mekedatu, Mahadayi on agenda

BELAGAVI: A group of Congress legislators and leaders from North Karnataka, led by H K Patil and Satish Jarkiholi, have decided to hold a massive tractor rally in May, demanding the immediate implementation of the Mahadayi project.

The rally will be held in a big way, similar to the one organised by the Congress recently demanding the implementation of the Mekedatu project.

At a meeting held at the residence of Patil in Bengaluru on Tuesday, the legislators decided to hold a tractor rally involving a large number of Congress workers in the first or second week of May. Patil said the leaders have decided to hold a rally for the Mahadayi project, since it is vital for the people of North Karnataka. "We were undecided on whether to hold a padayatra or a tractor rally, but we finally decided to go with the latter as per the suggestions of the leaders of North Karnataka," he said. Satish Jarkiholi, who will also take a lead in the agitation, said a large number of people are expected to arrive for the rally. The project is vital for the people of North Karnataka, helping the region overcome water crisis to a great extent, he advised. ENS

BJP hits back at Byregowda for his 'emergency' remark

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Legislative Assembly witnessed uproar as former minister and Congress MLA Krishna Byregowda alleged that there is an 'undeclared emergency in place in the country', while expressing concern that 'it is turning out to be a managed democracy'.

"There are managed democracies across the world and India too is heading in that direction," he stated, while speaking during a debate over electoral reforms.

Taking strong exception to his statement, Law Minister J C Madhuswamy maintained that the country has surpassed this situation after facing such kinds of things especially during the seventies.

But Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri clarified that since there are checks and balances in the Constitution, the country can never be transformed into an autocratic democracy.

But Byregowda clarified that the Congress has apologised for the imposition of Emergency during 1975, but asserted that presently, there is an undeclared emergency. He also opposed the 'one nation one election' idea, terming it undemocratic and detrimental to the very existence of regional parties. "We need the regional parties to exist as different voices in the country. If there is a fractured mandate, and there is no consensus evolved between the parties to form an alliance government, the Centre will impose Governor's rule," he mentioned.

He also expressed his dissent for making voting mandatory, as it is against the fundamental rights. "It is not a fundamental duty and making exercising of the franchise mandatory is not right, as even the Law Commission has opined the same. Instead, the people can be motivated," he said.

But the Law Minister asserted that introduction of NOTA is the start of making voting compulsory, or else it will not help participatory democracy.

State mops up ₹9.5k cr additional tax

ENS @ Bengaluru

DESPITE Covid-19 and the economic crisis, Karnataka saw revenue collection overshoot the target by Rs 9,500 crore under various tax heads, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said. The budget for the year 2022-23 was passed in both Houses on Tuesday. He assured the House that the government will focus on revenue receipts starting from April 1, and bring in more financial discipline.

Replying in the House, Bommai said that in the past two years, there was a financial crisis and they couldn't collect revenue due to Covid. There was a revenue deficit of Rs 21,000 crore, and Rs 15,000 crore was spent on Covid management, increasing the financial burden on the government.

Bommai, however, said that in the past five to six months, the market improved and in spite of the third wave, the state government did well in mobilising revenue. "We could collect Rs 9,500 crore more tax, except motor vehicles tax," he said. This is also because he conducted a review meeting with various department officials. "We had anticipated that collection would be Rs 7,500 crore more, but by March-end, we crossed Rs 9,500 crore," he said.

Besides, the state also managed well in getting loans. "We had estimated we would take loans of Rs 67,100 crore, but ended up taking Rs 63,100 crore. This is because we collected good revenue, and also shows that the state is on the right path in bringing financial discipline. We are coming under the ambit of guidelines issued under the Fiscal Deficit Act," he added.

RAHUL is expected to arrive in Bengaluru around 2.30 pm and travel by road to the mutt, where he will visit the 'gadduge', the tomb of the Swamiji, and pay his tributes.

"The decision is Rahul's own... The visit has nothing to do with politics," said former deputy chief minister Dr G Parameshwar.

Bharat Ratna controversy

The issue of a posthumous Bharat Ratna to Shivakumara Swamiji ahead of Shah's visit has triggered a controversy. Former CM BS Yediyurappa and his son BY Vijayendra, who are overseeing the celebrations at the mutt, have been reportedly telling the devotees that they would appeal to the Centre to confer the country's highest civilian award on the Swamiji. But the present head of the mutt, Sri Siddalinga Swamiji, clarified that the mutt will never insist on it. "If the award comes naturally it's like 'amritha', and if it comes by pressure it's poison. No one should raise this issue," he said.

CM will hold meet to decide on panchayat polls: Eshwarappa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa told the Legislative Council on Tuesday that a meeting will be held on March 31 to discuss elections to taluk and zilla panchayats with reservations to OBCs.

When JDS MLC Marithibbegowda said the government is not making any preparations to hold the panchayat election, Eshwarappa said the Supreme Court has directed the government to hold elections without reservation to OBCs. "But the government wants to give an opportunity to OBCs. We have set up the Panchayat Raj Delimitation Committee for redrawing zilla and taluk panchayat boundaries and asked it to submit the report at the earliest," he added.

He said CM Basavaraj Bommai has convened a meeting with all legislators on March 31 to take their opinion and decide on the report to be submitted to the Supreme Court to facilitate the elections soon.

'Halal' meat sale is economic jihad: Ravi

ENS @ Bengaluru

RAISING a new controversy, BJP National General Secretary CT Ravi said the sale of 'halal' meat amounts to "economic jihad". "When Muslims refuse to buy meat from Hindus, why should Hindus buy meat from them?" Ravi questioned, adding that if Muslims agree to eat non-halal meat, then Hindus too will agree to eat halal meat. 'Halal' is a way of slaughtering meat among Muslims.

The meat issue is the latest among a string of polarising issues taken up the BJP and its affiliate organisations. Ravi's statement comes a day after Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's political secretary MP Renukacharya called for the state government to ban madrasas, saying that issues "opposed to national interests" are taught there.

Meanwhile, JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy said the government should take action against miscreants who are instigating Hindus not to buy from Muslim traders. "Even after such blatant attempts by vested interests to communalise issues, the government has not taken any action. It should remember it is a government of 6.5 crore people of Karnataka. I have seen provocative posts on WhatsApp, those behind these mischievous posts should be arrested and dealt with as per law," Kumaraswamy said. "I appeal to Hindu youths not to allow the harmony of the state to be destroyed."

In the backdrop of these controversies, a group of intellectuals has written to Bommai, calling for a clampdown on rising incidents of hate, and hate messages. "It is a shameless work to deliberately instil religious hatred in Karnataka, which is considered a garden of peace and harmony," they wrote, and placed a set of demands before him: that girls be allowed to wear the hijab, discrimination against Muslim traders should stop at fairs and festivals, those seeking to provoke communal hatred be dealt with firmly, and the proposal to introduce Bhagwad Gita in schools be scrapped.

BJP's Benake rallies behind non-Hindu traders

ENS @ Belagavi

BELAGAVI MLA and BJP leader Anil Benake has rallied behind non-Hindu traders doing business during religious fairs and events, stating, "We will not prohibit Muslim merchants from doing business at religious events and jatras in Belagavi."

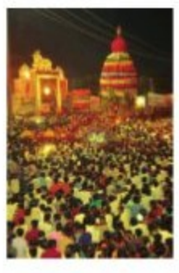
Reacting to questions on the demands made by various leaders for a ban on trade by non-Hindu merchants at religious centres, temples and jatras, Benake said, "We will not put a financial prohibition on Muslim merchants at the fairs or temples in Belagavi. We cannot force people to buy or not buy things from a person (trader) of a particular community. We will not ban such things."

However, the BJP MLA said he would not be able to do anything if the people themselves impose a ban on others. "Being an advocate, I can only say that every citizen has the right to run his or her business wherever desired. Let the people decide from where they want to buy things," he concluded.

Social media campaign launched to ban minority traders from mutt fair

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

MEMBERS of pro-Hindu organisations have begun a social media campaign, demanding that non-Hindu traders be kept away from doing business at the upcoming Tontadarya Mutt fair.



The mutt has been promoting communal harmony for decades, but some members of the pro-Hindu organisations said that they will mark a strong protest if people from other religious backgrounds get to trade during the mutt's fairs. However, the mutt authorities and seer have not commented on the issue. The annual fair of the Tontadarya Mutt is one of the main events in Gadag, which sees thousands of devotees from the neighbouring districts and across the state in attendance. It lends ample opportunities to small traders, irrespective of caste, creed or religion. This time around though, there is much demand for setting up of stalls, since many traders suffered losses during the pandemic. However, the social media campaign on allowing only Hindus to trade here has created confusion.

The campaign is receiving mixed responses, but pro-Hindu organisation members are sharing videos which state that they will not allow non-Hindu traders at the fair. "We will not permit people who do not respect the law of our land. We have started a social media campaign, which is getting good response," they said.

A devotee said: "This mutt has always promoted communal harmony and a ban for non-Hindu traders will not be suitable for this institution. We wish the management looks at all the factors and takes an appropriate decision." The mutt management has, however, refused to comment on the issue. "The fair will be held on April 15 and we hope the issue will be sorted out sooner," said one of its members.

Activists call upon official over ban on hijab in exam centres

BENGALURU: A delegation of activists met the Prinicipal Secretary, Primary and Secondary Education, Government of Karnataka, on Tuesday and submitted a memorandum regarding the prohibition of hijab during the SSLC exams. The High Court order does not apply to institutions without uniform, and also applies only to classrooms and not to the exam hall, they argued, adding that stopping girls from wearing a head scarf violates their Constitutional right. "We demand that no one should be stopped from writing exams and all students' rights must be protected," they said. The principal secretary, meanwhile, has assured that their demands will be looked into. ENS

Muslims need not do biz near temples, says Kalladka

ENS @ Udupi

EXPRESSING that Muslims need not conduct business near Hindu temples, RSS leader Kalladka Prabhakar Bhat on Tuesday said the religious practice of offering 'Salam Mangalarathi' in the name of Tipu Sultan at Kollur Sri Mookambika Temple should stop immediately.

He told reporters at Byndoor, "Opposition leaders should realise that it was the then Congress government led by SM Krishna in 2002 that brought the rule banning Muslim shops within the 100-metre radius of temples. Krishna might have had a reason to bring in the rule," he said.

He appealed to Hindus to continue their campaign against allowing Muslim vendors near temples. On 'Salam Mangalarathi', he said it is an insult to the God as Tipu Sultan was not fair to Hindus. "It is good if the ritual ends at the earliest. The practice might have started unknowingly. Let them start offering the pooja in the name of God instead of Tipu," he added.

Father, 10 others arrested for selling infant

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IN an unbelievable incident, a three-month-old baby girl was sold 10 times within a week by one person to another before she was finally re-united to her mother by the police. A total of 11 persons, including the father of the baby, were arrested by the Mangalagiri police following a complaint by the grandmother of the girl.

The baby changed hands from people belonging to various places in Andhra Pradesh like Vijayawada and also in Nalgonda, Hyderabad and Khammam in Telangana before finally rescued from a person from West Godavari, police said. Preliminary investigation suggested that all those who were involved in the illegal sale of the baby were not part of any organised trafficking racket but tried to cash in by selling the baby to others.

The baby girl was first sold for ₹70,000 by her father and lastly she was purchased for ₹2.50 lakh by a person V Ramesh of West Godavari from whom she was rescued.

Mangalagiri Deputy Superintendent of Police J Rambabu said a daily wager M Manoj of Ganalaiahpet in Mangalagiri town has three daughter, the youngest one three-month-old Manogna. He got addicted to alcohol and was not in a position to raise her and decided to sell her away. He make contacts with few people to sell his daughter and sold away Manogna to Gayatri of Nalgonda district through a broker, Nagalakshmi, for 70,000. "From then on, the baby changed hands and finally landed with Ramesh," Rambabu said.

A complaint was lodged by Manogna's grandmother Mary and investigation was carried out by special teams and the girl traced, the DSP said.

Along with the girl's father, the police arrested another ten persons.

Tusker killed by bus had barbed wire injuries

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AS the postmortem report of the tusker which was hit by a BMTC bus in Kaggalipura is awaited, there are concerns about barbed wire found entangled in its trunk.

With photographs of barbed wire dangling from the tusker's snout being circulated far and wide, conservationists are ringing alarm bells. While some say the tusker died because of this and not because of the accident, forest officials assert that the death was due to shock, and the barbed wire injury was old.

A senior forest official said that many property owners put up barbed wire fences around their properties standing along the elephant corridor. These are encroached spaces.

Many cases of wild animals limping because of barbed wire injuries are noted in Bannerghatta National Park, UM Kaval forest and other reserve forests.

"Properties around forest patches on the city outskirts are a matter of concern, not just because they are encroached, but also the type of fencing -- they use either barbed wire or electric fences. Also, many property owners here have political connections. Animals, when trying to enter green pastures, get entangled in the wires or are grievously injured, and die a gradual painful death. These deaths are not recorded because of man-animal conflict, but get recorded as natural deaths," the official pointed out.

Rly mechanic held for assaulting TTE

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

IN a shocking incident of physical violence between two railway employees, an AC mechanic of Bengaluru Railway Division and a Travelling Ticketing Examiner (TTE) of Guntakal Division got into a major altercation on board the Sampark Kranti Express, in the early hours of Tuesday.

The mechanic, Arun Kumar, was arrested on Tuesday evening after an FIR was registered against him under six sections. Kumar (43) is a senior technician in the electrical AC department at Yesvantpur depot.

According to a highly-placed railway source, the problem began when the TTE of Train No 12649 Yesvantpur-Hazrat Nizammudin Express asked Kumar to produce his ID card (which permits free travel for railway staff) while checking passenger tickets. This was just after the train had left Ballari Junction at 3.43am and was on its way to Guntakal.

"The mechanic refused to do so. A major altercation ensued between the two, with the mechanic losing his cool and assaulting the TTE with the support of a few others on board. Kumar allegedly removed the fire extinguisher and hit the TTE, causing a head injury. The TTE was also robbed of his gold chain and mobile phone," the source said, quoting the FIR filed by the TTE at Guntakal Government Railway Police Station.

When the train reached Guntakal, the mechanic was made to alight and a few men known to the TTE assaulted him there.

The FIR was filed against the mechanic under Sections 384 (extortion), 353 (assault to deter a public servant from discharge of duty) 506 (criminal intimidation) and 332 (voluntarily causing hurt to a public servant), 324 (causing hurt by dangerous weapons) and 34 (criminal act by many persons) of the IPC.

Farmer suicides dip in K'taka in last 7 yrs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Farmer suicides in the state have come down drastically over the last seven years, said Agriculture Minister BC Patil on the floor of the Assembly on Tuesday.

Speaking on the state budget, he said farmer suicides which were 1,062 in 2015-16 came down to 932 in 2016-17, 1052 in 2017-18, 868 in 2018-19, 885 in 2019-20, 647 in 2020-21 and 268 in 2021-22. "This also means that the issues that farmers were facing have come down. We are committed to increase their income and reduce their burden in the coming days," he added.

The ministry is now insisting on a secondary income for farmers. The government has announced the Vidyanidhi scholarship scheme for children of farmers along with increasing their quota to 50 per cent at all Universities of Agriculture Sciences.

In this year's budget, a subsidy on fuel used for tractors was announced. "We are using technology for crop surveys. With these efforts, the government is trying to improve the living condition of farmers," he added.

Leader of Opposition Siddaramiah questioned the government as to why the Krishi Honda Bhagya scheme has been dropped.

"It helped farmers, especially in areas that receive a low rainfall. As per reports by experts, farmers with krishi hondas (farm ponds) have grown good crops and increased their yields up to 32 per cent in many places. It should be continued," he said. CM Basavaraj Bommai assured him of action.

MILLETS IN MID-DAY MEALS

To encourage farmers growing millets, the state government is planning to introduce millets in mid-day meals for schoolchildren studying in government schools. Millets will be given once a month, and Rs 10 crore has been allotted under the scheme, Patil said.

FEWER BHARAT BANDHS IF GOVT IS MORE FLEXIBLE

There has been partial disruption in pockets all over the country with a call for 'Bharat Bandh' by opposition parties and trade unions protesting against the government's 'anti-people' policies. Increasing prices, particularly the multiple hikes in fuel rates, privatisation of state-owned banks and other PSUs, and more benefits for unorganised labour are some of the areas being highlighted by the protestors. Organised employees in urban centres are also miffed at the rollback of interest rates for the Employees Provident Fund in January this year. The new interest rates for 2021–22—at 8.1%—is the lowest since 1977–78. While transport and high street life has hardly been affected, there has been heavy absenteeism in banks, leading to disruption of financial services.

Some opposition parties in power have adopted an opportunistic attitude to the 'bandh' call. Protests are okay when the target is the Centre, but not okay if it affects the state. For instance, in West Bengal, the Bandh call had little effect after the Mamta Banerjee-led TMC kept offices open and issued an order that casual or sick leave would be treated as "dies non" (not counted) and "no salary will be admissible".

After the farmers' agitation and the five-state election, this is the first mass bandh. It seemed after the convincing BJP win in the by-polls, anti-government protests would be low key. However, the discontent still seems to be simmering under the radar. There has also been some debate on the ethics and efficacy of such paralysing protests. The Kerala High Court has held that the participation of government employees in the bandh would be illegal. A section of liberal opinion supports the view that satyagraha and protest should be limited to 'constitutional' means and that disruption of public transport and forced closures creates a "grammar of anarchy", as warned by B R Ambedkar. On the other hand, it was only after more than a year of street protests and disruption that the farmers' agitation was taken seriously and the laws rolled back. If the government remains inflexible, such Bharat Bandhs will continue irrespective of the finer issues of ethics.

SOCIETY'S PUSHBACK COULD BLUNT BIGOTRY

Over the past few months, Karnataka has gained a reputation for communal controversies. Barely has the hijab row died down than fringe elements have taken it upon themselves to bar Muslim vendors at temple fairs. Right-wing activists are pressuring temple authorities to toe the line and banners are coming up around temples, banning non-Hindu vendors. On its part, the government is keeping a studied distance from the controversy, preferring instead to cite the rulebook and a law that the Congress government had enacted in 2002. The Hindu Religious Institutions and Charitable Endowments Act speaks of the long-term lease of properties and business on temple premises and not of temporary stalls put up at temple fairs. This has been conveniently twisted to suit the Hindutva agenda. Law minister J C Madhuswamy has said that the government does not encourage the ban and vendors are welcome to do business outside the temple premises. At the same time, there is no effort to rein in the fringe groups that are enforcing the ban across districts. The canker is being spread in a deliberate manner and the government's silence on this violation of rights of vendors gives rise to alarm. While the issue is petty and smacks of discriminatory tactics, it is expected to reap big political dividends for the BJP and will definitely be kept alive in an election year.

At this point, it is heartening to note that the ground reality is different: vendors of all religious hues have put up a united front and said they do not wish to be divided along communal lines. A group of lawyers, too, has written to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai over the trend of rising polarisation. A set of senior scientists, writers, academics and artists have also expressed concern over the "frequent violence against religious minorities", hate speeches and public threats, and called out the government's complicity in the deteriorating situation. There are some voices of dissent within the BJP too, but they may have little impact on the hardliners. It is this much-needed pushback from civil society that could blunt bigotry, and it brings hope to the ordinary citizen, who is looking for a progressive and peaceful existence.

If people do not aspire at all, development will stop. But if consumerism is overdone, it will lead to destruction. So what does responsible management for modern businesses look like?

RESPONSIBLE MANAGEMENT: THE NEW PARADIGM

ASHOKE K MAITRA

Founder, Sri Ramakrishna International Institute of Management (SRIIOM)

SOUMYADIP SINHA

With nations worldwide realising the gravity of the climate crisis and pledging to take sincere actions for sustainable development so as to not further endanger the Earth in COP26, 'responsible management' has become the popular buzzword. In simple words, it means running industries in a manner that does not endanger the Earth by adding to the climate crisis.

Countries have come to this realisation after witnessing many cyclones, floods, forest fires, and the Covid-19 pandemic. It has also dawned on leaders that unless wealth creators change their manufacturing process and make it more eco-friendly, and society opts for cleaner energy and a sustainable way of living, we cannot stop endangering the Earth. Too much time has already been lost.

Everyone knows global warming has happened and will continue to happen because of the way humans have destroyed nature and are following a materialistic philosophy that proclaims that the more we consume, the happier we will become. Most people in first world nations believe that the more luxuries they have, the happier they will get.

Eastern philosophy, on the other hand, teaches human beings to be satisfied with just what is needed to live and lead a life of austerity, detachment and renunciation, which leads to happiness and peace. I am not getting into what is right and wrong or how much of which type of philosophy is right. If people do not aspire at all, development will stop. We don't want to regress to the stone age. But if consumerism is overdone, it will lead to the destruction of the Earth, global warming and unsustainable development.

What does responsible management for modern businesses and society look like? Mainstream management practices have been blamed for many of the world's current ailments, including the universally important issues of social injustice and environmental destruction. However, it was never envisaged that industries should create wealth in a manner that endangers the earth or society, or make people lose their work-life balance.

Peter Drucker, considered the greatest proponent of management theory, sees responsibility for the social impact of one's activities as a natural core element of good management that does not need to be specifically mentioned. Paraphrasing Drucker's words, managers must achieve positive social impact as one of their basic responsibilities to their organisations, actively detecting social needs and turning them into business opportunities. J R D Tata always said, "The purpose of running an industry is to create wealth for the nation and make profits in a responsible way, by not endangering human beings or nature. The test of success is excellence and perfection in products and services." C K Prahalad spoke about "inclusive capitalism", which directs industries to grow while involving the community and the poor surrounding them so that both of them can grow, each happier for the other.

When we think of management of change we have to think of three main domains of sustainability: responsibility, ethics, and generating stakeholder value without endangering the Earth. Sustainability management activity must lead to a sound, positive triple bottom line that protects, creates and sustains social, environmental and economic business value. Ethical decisions in management must be morally desirable in both the process and outcome. Management practice must embrace ethical decision-making and create moral excellence.

> From a sustainability standpoint, resources are understood as the three types of capital—social, environmental and economic—that need to be sustained or even regenerated in the management process. Responsible management abstains from seeing them as a mere means of creating shareholder wealth

This integrative model for responsible management can be seen as the highest level in the evolution of responsible business thinking, since it incorporates the three background domains of sustainability, responsibility and ethics as distinct and equally important bases. The model is in line with recent developments in theory and practice in which responsible business is seen as being strongly influenced by all three domains. From a sustainability standpoint, resources are understood as the three types of capital—social, environmental and economic—that need to be sustained or even regenerated in the management process. Responsible management abstains from seeing resources as a mere means of creating shareholder wealth.

In 2009, senior management thinker Gary Hamel brought together a group of 35 eminent management specialists, including C-level managers from Google, UBS and McKinsey as well as other CEOs and theorists, such as Henry Mintzberg and Peter Senge. This eminent team of 'renegades', as they called themselves, jointly developed 25 recommendations for management of the future. The consensus was that management has to take the next evolutionary step. Interestingly, their first three recommendations all related to ethics, sustainability and responsibility:

1. Ensure that the work of management serves a higher purpose. Management, both in theory and in practice, must orient itself to the achievement of noble, socially significant goals.

2. Fully embed the ideas of community and citizenship in management systems. There is a need for processes and practices that reflect the interdependence of all stakeholder groups.

3. Reconstruct management's philosophical foundations. To build organisations that are more than merely efficient, we need to draw lessons from such fields as biology, political science, and theology.

Responsible management is all about growing and becoming successful without compromising on ethics, community development and safety of the earth.

Former Principal Chief Conservator of Forests & Chief Wildlife Warden, MP

The Wildlife (Protection) Amendment Act, 2021, was introduced in the Lok Sabha on 17 December 2021. The Bill mainly rationalises the Schedules of Wildlife Protection Act, 1972 (WLPA), and aims to implement the provisions of the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES). Another important addition is the regulation of the import, trade, possession or proliferation of invasive species. A response to the Bill has been invited from the general public.

The 1972 Act provides for the safeguarding of listed flora and fauna and for establishing a network of ecologically important protected areas. A number of amendments have been made in it and overall, there has been an encouraging outcome of the implementation of the Act. The tigers (a flagship species) in India account for about 70% of the world's tiger population in the wild. There are 53 tiger reserves in India. The extent of forest cover in tiger reserves is an important indicator of the health of the forest ecosystems. We also have a network of 106 national parks and 564 wildlife sanctuaries. A healthy network of wildlife habitats is in fact a network of ecosystem service providers.

In spite of successes and achievements on many fronts, there are some areas that require more attention. With the improvement in wildlife habitats and the spreading of human population, the issue of human-wildlife conflict needs continuous special attention. There has been remarkable capacity-building of the forest department in dealing with emergency situations when a wild animal is in danger or when it has strayed into a human habitation, putting both the animal and people around at risk. But the issue of crop damage by wild animals requires some more concrete steps.

In the 25 February 2022 issue of this newspaper, an article entitled Rethinking wildlife protection strategy by Mr Madhav Gadgil, an environmentalist, was published. He has vehemently criticised the WLPA and quickly jumped to the conclusion that people should be allowed to hunt wild animals for trophy and trade. It would be worthwhile to go over some of the sweeping and rather irresponsible statements that should not have come from an environmentalist of national repute—"...a senior police officer and a High Court judge have told me that WLPA is constitutionally invalid."

"Indeed, using the weapon of WLPA, a tyrannical regime controlled by the forest departments, has come to prevail all over the country."

"They (the people) may cull monkeys, hygienically pack the meat and sell it to China or Afrikans."

Instead of suggesting any practical wildlife protection strategy, throughout the article Mr Gadgil has proposed sport hunting as if wildlife management is nothing else and it would solve all managerial issues. It has been mentioned that Britain has shooting estates where as many as 12,300 wild animals and birds are killed every day. Mr Gadgil misses the point that Britain has lost almost all its natural forests and wildlife.

It has become a fashion to propose unpragmatic forest management strategies by frequently using the word 'people'. People's participation is essential, but it does not mean chaos. People's participation is a mosaic of roles and has to be coupled with suitable regulations for a noble purpose so that there is both short- and long-term well-being of the citizens, especially those of communities who depend on forests for their livelihood. Although there is talk of people's participation, the hidden intention often is to create a situation where the government loses its control over natural resources so that forests and ecosystems may ultimately land into the hands of commercial forces. These issues have been dealt with in detail in my books, The Crisis of the Tiger: Is there a Way Out? and The Dilemma of People's Participation.

> People's participation is essential, but it does not mean chaos. ... Although there is talk of people's participation, the hidden intention often is to create a situation where the government loses its control over natural resources so that forests and ecosystems may ultimately land into the hands of commercial forces

If the WLPA is being amended, it should also incorporate the burning issues of human wildlife conflict and well-being of the people. The proposed Act should explicitly spell out the principles of Wildlife Management, which may include:

1. Forests and wildlife habitats have developed to the present stage through a complex biological process over hundreds of years. They are to be managed as living ecosystems keeping in mind that all its components are interdependent and have their own ecological value.

2. The habitats should be managed primarily for the ecosystem services (including climate change mitigation) they are providing to human beings. The tangible benefits from the forests are only a small portion of the intangible benefits in the form of ecosystem services. Hence, as a corollary, the complete ownership and management of forests should not devolve to any public body that doesn't have other sources of revenue for the protection and management of its forests and cannot conceive the essentiality of interlinked ecosystems and services.

3. For the sustainability of ecosystems and conservation of wildlife, it is essential that there exists a network of well-connected inviolate spaces. These inviolate spaces and their corridors have to be managed (and created wherever necessary) in a well-planned manner.

4. Communities who have traditionally been dependent on forests (including wildlife habitats) have the primary right to utilise the usufructs in a planned, organised and sustainable manner.

5. Wild animals should not be killed for fun, revenue or recreation. Whenever there has to be a choice between the life of a wild animal and the life or property of a human being, the human life and property gets preference. But the killing of wild animals just for fun, recreation or trophy through a process of sport hunting is against all ethics and ecosystem management principles. The core principle of dealing with this issue should be that human beings should not suffer for being born in or near a wildlife rich area. Crop damage by animals is one major factor of human wildlife conflict. But the option or possibility of killing wild animals as a form of recreation or revenue generating activity is a hindrance to the development of any innovative strategy.

These are some of the principles of wildlife management that need to be discussed and incorporated in any major amendment to the Wildlife Protection Act, 1972.

Chaos in Bengal Assembly

It is unfortunate that pandemonium broke out in the West Bengal Assembly. The opposition had every right to raise the ghastly Birbhum killings and the aftermath. It is the duty of the ruling party to clear the doubts raised. The regime's indulgence of physical attacks is not in keeping with democracy.

Improving India's image

This is with reference to Humongous mess in Sri Lanka and Pakistan (Mar 29). It is unfortunate that Sri Lanka is reeling under dire financial straits. It is good that India has offered timely help to it by extending credit lines and providing grants for ongoing projects. This gesture will not only help Sri Lanka, it will also improve our standing in its eyes as a trusted and responsible nation.

Outdated mode of protest

The two-day national strike called by the Congress and Left parties evoked only a partial response this time as well, as people are too busy trying to make ends meet. The spiralling fuel prices have understandably hit the common people at large. But this mode of protest is outdated and deplorable. In Kerala, party workers resorted to hooliganism against the travelling public and shop owners who refused to shut their stores. It was pitiable that law enforcers chose to look the other way.

Fuel rates going up again

After a lull of a few months, fuel prices are going north again. The ramifications of this price rise is clearly visible on essential commodities, which is disturbing household budgets. The Centre and state governments must work together and contain fuel prices. If the intention of the government is really to encourage the use of LPGs in rural areas, the insane price hike must be controlled.

Ram Saran Singh, Bengaluru

Price hike not due to war

The Union finance minister's explanation that the rise in fuel prices is due to the Ukraine crisis is hard to believe. The systematic loot of Indian pockets has been going on for far longer than the war. Only 0-5% of our fuel imports come from Russia. Yet, Lok Sabha speaker Om Birla declined the opposition's demands for a discussion on the price hike.

Keep tab on climate crisis

This is with reference to Don't lose focus on climate crisis (Mar 29). The editorial rightly brought out a timely warning to policymakers to keep a tab on the far-reaching changes in the climate front while countering the crisis arising from the Russia-Ukraine war.

PK reopens talks with Congress; keen to join party

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

POLITICAL strategist Prashant Kishor has returned to the table with the Congress to discuss the possibility of working with the party for the Gujarat Assembly elections and the 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

Sources said the discussions also include the possibility of Kishor joining the party. He has already met former Congress president Rahul Gandhi and general secretary Priyanka Gandhi, according to sources. They said Kishor is more interested in joining the Congress rather than working as an election consultant.

"He wants to join the party and reorganise it before going into elections. We are hopeful things would work out this time around," said a senior Congress leader.

Kishor had a bitter fallout with the Congress last year when the party reportedly rejected his proposal to create a new post of General Secretary (Elections) for him. Top party leaders were of the opinion that he could help the party as an advisor, but should not be handed over full charge of fighting elections. Their argument was that if Kishor were to be handed over the charge of selecting candidates, mobilising voters and choosing election themes, what would other general secretaries do? They felt that accepting his demand would render entire party organisation useless.

The party, therefore, rejected the proposal. Kishor did not take the rejection kindly and attacked Rahul in a tweet saying "...Congress leadership is not the divine right of an individual especially when the party has lost more than 90 per cent elections in the last 10 years. Let opposition leadership be decided democratically."

After successfully handling West Bengal polls for the Trinamool Congress, Kishor had announced that he would not take any more assignments as an election strategist. He has been keen on joining politics.

There is a section in the Congress that doubts Kishor's commitment to the party ideology and his ability to work as a disciplined soldier of the organisation. This section feels the party would be better off hiring him as a consultant.

Strongly opposed bail to minister's son: UP govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Uttar Pradesh government on Tuesday in a counter-affidavit filed in the Supreme Court in connection with last year's Lakhimpur Kheri violence said the state government had "vehemently opposed" the bail application of Union Minister Ajay Mishra's son in connection with the case. The state government informed this to the top court in response to a special leave petition filed by the family members of the victims of the Lakhimpur violence against the Allahabad HC granting bail to him.

"At the very outset, the respondent takes exception to the averments in the SLP to the effect that the state did not effectively oppose the bail application of the accused. The same clearly demonstrates that the bail application was vehemently opposed by the state and any averments to the contrary in the SLP are completely false and merit to be rejected. Furthermore, the impugned order being of February 10, 2022, the limitation period against the same is still running, and the decision to file the SLP against the same, is pending consideration before the relevant authorities," The state said.

The Supreme Court on March 16 had issued a notice to the state government in the matter. It had also taken note of the submission of the petitioner's counsel who stated there was an attack on one of the witnesses of the case. The matter is likely to be heard on March 30.

The state has said the particular incident was not related to the matter and was a result of an altercation due to a dispute over Holi Gulal.

Petition against J&K delimitation filed

A writ petition has been moved in the Supreme Court challenging the Centre's notifications for the delimitation of Assembly constituencies of Jammu and Kashmir. The petition claimed the increase in number of seats from 107 to 114 in the Union Territory is violative of the constitutional provisions such as Articles 81, 82, 170, 330 and 332 and statutory provisions, particularly Section 63 of the Jammu & Kashmir Re-organisation Act 2019.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Tuesday called upon the BIMSTEC nations to collectively fight terrorism, violent extremism, transnational crimes, narco-trafficking and cyber-attacks which affect their economic development efforts.

The BIMSTEC is a regional organisation that brings together Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Myanmar and Thailand.

But recent developments in Ukraine have added to international disquiet," he said.

"We cannot ignore the challenges that terrorism and extremism, as also transnational crime and narco-trafficking or indeed new challenges such as cyber-attacks, pose to all of us," Jaishankar further said.

Lanka hands over wind farm project

New Delhi: Sri Lanka has decided to hand over to India the development of three wind farms that was originally awarded to a Chinese firm. The decision was announced on Tuesday, after a memorandum of understanding (MoU) in this regard was signed in the presence MEA S Jaishankar in Colombo. IAF copters roped in to douse Sariska fire

A lone fire was doused on Sunday, but another one broke out on Monday which spread rapidly due to strong winds

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

LARGE-SCALE efforts are being made to douse a major fire that erupted inside the Sariska National Park in Rajasthan's Alwar district on Monday. The fire has engulfed an area of 10 sq km but fortunately, tigers in the park are said to be safe though a large amount of the forest has been badly burnt. Beside ground efforts, two Indian Air Force helicopters which arrived on Tuesday morning have been trying to extinguish the fire that has been raging for over 24 hours now.

Forest officials said that more than 200 people, including the staff and villagers of the three ranges of Sariska, Alwar and Dausa are engaged in dousing the fire. A fire broke out in the hills of Baleta Prithvipura Naka on Sunday that was soon put out with the help of villagers. On Monday, however, fire broke out again due to strong winds and gradually spread rapidly by Tuesday.

According to Sudershan Sharma, district forest officer in Sariska, said, "Our forest staff with the help of villagers has been working hard to douse the fire over the past two days. It started from Kalighati area and has spread till Narandi area covering an area of over 9 sq km. We are trying to douse the fire before it reaches the valley area in the sanctuary. A lot of grass and salar trees have been burnt so far but other losses will be clear only after the fire is extinguished."

NO HARM TO BIG CATS

Tiger movement in the area has been affected by the fire and forest officials said so far there is no information about any big cats being engulfed in the fire. The Sariska Tiger Reserve currently has 27 tigers

Help was also sought from the army and two helicopters were pressed into service on Tuesday morning to douse the fire. Many villages of Sariska have also been evacuated. The IAF helicopters are bringing water from Silisedh lake and over 50 thousand litres of water has already been sprayed to extinguish the fire.

Additional Collector of Alwar, Sunita Pankaj said that they are focusing on saving tigers and other wild animals in the area close to the fire. She remarked, "Since the fire has spread rapidly, we have pressed in helicopters to douse the flames. We are bringing in water and spraying it, particularly in areas which have a lot of wild animals like tigers."

Forest officials say that there is possibility that wildlife animals could move to the areas with human population. Malakheda police station officials are alerting people residing in or near jungle.

The cause of the blaze, which erupted on Monday evening and has been burning an area of around 10 sq km, is yet to be ascertained.

After free ration, now community kitchens across UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AFTER giving an extension to free ration scheme at its first cabinet meeting, Yogi government 2.0 is proceeding to set up community kitchens across the state in order to provide free of highly subsidized food to poor and deprived.

The UP government has been distributing free rations to 15 crore beneficiaries every month since 2020. Under the scheme, the beneficiaries get packed 1kg of whole chana, 1 litre of edible oil, 1 kg of salt besides 5 kg of wheat and rice per family member per month.

The community kitchen scheme would be commenced in consonance of the recent order of the Supreme Court, delivered in January whereby, the Centre was asked to start a model scheme for community kitchens across the country providing additional food grain to states to address the issues related to malnutrition.

As per the official sources, Yogi government has begun preparations to set up community kitchens in urban and rural areas to provide poor cooked nutritious food for free or at very nominal prices.

Then modalities to start the scheme will be chalked out at a high-level meeting shortly this week involving all the departments concerned. Different departments may be given different roles in running such kitchens, said the sources.

The sources claimed that besides the urban and rural local bodies which will be entrusted with setting up the kitchens, food and civil supplies department will make the food grain for meals available and Integrated Child Development Services department will ensure nutritional and caloric value of the food cooked.

In UP, the significance of such kitchen can be assessed by the fact that the state figures among those which figures in the 'severe' category of malnourishment.

Payment hike for forest fires likely

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

WITH temperatures soaring forest fires starting to rage in Uttarakhand forests, state forest department is mulling to revise compensation for the damages to flora.

Nishant Verma, nodal officer, forest fires said, "We have roped in institutions which are working in the field of forest fire management and soon the revised rates will be implemented. This will help assess the damages in modern terms when it comes to monetary damages which will result in better mitigation."

Fire season in the hill state starts around February 15 and goes on till the monsoon arrives.

At present, damages for compensation are calculated according to per hectare forests, plants destroyed in the forest fires. For a plant which is a year old the compensation is ₹22 while a five-year-old plant will get ₹32.

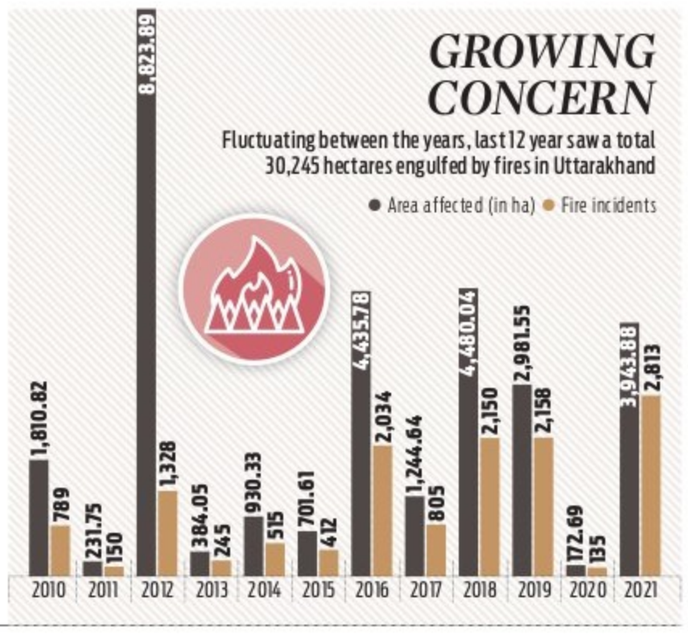
For fires in the forests the damages are calculated by measure of land– between ₹336-1,200 per hectare.

Officials of the state forest department said that the rates of the damages are too less and need to be revised.

Total 86 incidents of forest fires have been reported this year destroying 104.27 hectares of forest area. In 2021, a total of 2,813 forest fire incidents occurred destroying 3,943.88 hectares of forest land.

In last 12 year total 30,245.30 hectares of forest area has been engulfed by forest fires.

Officials from the state forest department said volunteers have been recruitment at local level to control the damage as well as other means such as friend, water tablets and more than 300 vehicles have been pushed into service for prevention.



No cherry-picking, UP ministers to get personal staff by lottery system

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

TO ensure a corruption-free and clean governance, the newly-appointed ministers of Yogi government 2.0 have not been given the option to choose the personal staff of their choice. A new lottery system has been introduced with due approval of CM office for the selection of the personal staff for the ministers.

Moreover, the system has been digitised and the ministers concerned are made to choose their staffers from a list of employees randomly through a computer lottery undertaken by the secretariat administration department.

The system was followed by a number of ministers who assumed office on Tuesday.

Significantly, CM Yogi Adityanath has kept the department of administrative reforms with himself. Moreover, the support staff which has worked with any of the ministers in their previous five year stint has been retained in the new list.

Meanwhile, women participation in governance and general administrative work in Uttar Pradesh has been raised to 20 per cent as they would be deputed as private secretaries, assistant private secretaries, review officers (RO), and assistant RO with the newly-appointed ministers.

Sources said in the final list of personal staff approved by CMO, the names of the personnel were kept confidential and were replaced by a code to keep the selection free from caste, creed, religion or regional considerations. Hence, while choosing the staff, the ministers will not be aware of persons they will select as their staff.

SP allies skip meet called by Akhilesh

The chasm in Yadav family seems to have widened further and even chinks in the armour of the alliance led by Samajwadi Party surfaced on Tuesday. On one hand, SP chief Akhilesh Yadav's uncle Shivpal Yadav (Pragatisheel Samajwadi Party-Lohia) boycotted a meeting of allies called by his nephew in Lucknow, on the other, an important ally, Mahan Dal, was not invited to the meeting convened to ascertain the reasons for the election performance

NEW ASSEMBLY

Cong headless even as Goa session begins

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE newly constituted Goa Assembly on Tuesday elected BJP MLA Ramesh Tawadkar as Speaker on the first day of the budget session, but the Congress failed to choose its legislature party leader. So, there was no Leader of Opposition on the first day of the assembly session.

Sources in the Congress said the state unit and elected MLAs had agreed on Digambar Kamat's name as leader of the party in the assembly, but the high command had not yet given its approval.

"We have given the names but it has not been finalised. Former chief minister Digambar Kamat was hurriedly called to Delhi on Monday by the Congress leadership to finalise the name of the Leader of Opposition. There is the possibility that the name will be declared on Tuesday late night or Wednesday," said a senior Congress leader.

"The name of Michael Lobo is also douing the rounds for the LoP while some are pitching for a fresh face to lead the party in the assembly. The Congress high command is discussing with various leaders before finalising the name," said another source.

The Congress won 11 seats in the recent polls while the BJP bagged 20. Earlier, the Congress had criticised the BJP for delaying the selection of the chief minister.

TOURIST SEASON

Srinagar airport sees record traffic

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

WITH Kashmir witnessing a bumper tourist season, traffic at Srinagar airport has been soaring, too. A record 90 flights operated at the airport with 15,014 passengers on Monday. These included 45 arrivals and departures each, said Kuldeep Singh Rishi, Director, Srinagar airport. "It was the busiest day in our history," he said.

The previous record of handling 13,700 passengers in a day was made earlier this year. The tourist flow to Kashmir has increased after the opening of Asia's largest tulip garden in Srinagar on March 23.

According to Singh, the airport is at present handling 2,400-2,600 passengers per hour, far beyond its capacity of handling 950 passengers per hour. The congestion at the airport is even causing some inconvenience to the travellers.

"The arrangements and facilities at Srinagar airport have been set up to handle 25 lakh passengers per year. But we are handling more than double the capacity," Singh said, and added that the infrastructure would be improved to managed the increasing load. "We have plans to construct a new terminal building at a cost of ₹1,500 crore," he said.

The airport has appointed Landrum Brown to carry out a study of passenger flow to identify the problem areas and suggest remedial measures.

5.2L poor in MP get pucca houses under PMAY-Gramin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

IT was a memorable day for 5.21 lakh poor families in Madhya Pradesh, as they got pucca houses under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Gramin) on Tuesday.

Joining these poor families on the 'Grih Pravesh' (house warming) event virtually was none other than Prime Minister Narendra Modi, while Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan was physically present in Chhatarpur district in Bundelkhand region.

On the occasion, the PM called upon every state to construct 75 Amrit Sarovars (big ponds) in each district within a year as part of the Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav celebrations. "A lot of groundwater has been exhausted and it's time that we dedicate ourselves to construct 75 Amrit Sarovars in every district to quench the thirst of Mother Earth. I urge every state, each local body and panchayat to work on this, starting from Varsh Pratipada (Hindu New Year on April 2). The MGNREGA funds can be utilised for this," he said.

The PM stressed that the 5.21 lakh houses built under PMAY(G) is a step to bring the poor out of poverty. Houses under the scheme are equipped with toilets, Saubhagya Yojna electricity connection, Ujala Scheme LED bulb, Ujjwala gas connection and water connection under Har Ghar Jal.

RUSSIA AGREES TO CUT BACK MILITARY OPS NEAR KYIV

Move meant "to increase trust", says Russian min; talks in Istanbul raise flickering hopes of finding an end to devastating war

KYIV

RUSSIA on Tuesday announced it will "fundamentally" scale back military operations near Ukraine's capital Kyiv and a northern city, as talks in Turkey to end the grinding war brought the outlines of a possible deal into view.

Deputy Defence Minister Alexander Fomin said the change on the battlefield was meant to increase trust at the talks after several rounds of negotiations failed to halt what has devolved into a bloody campaign of attrition.

While Moscow portrayed it as a goodwill gesture, its ground troops have become bogged down and taken heavy losses in their bid to seize Kyiv and other cities. Last week and again on Tuesday, the Kremlin seemed to lower its war aims, saying its "main goal" now is gaining control of the mostly Russian-speaking Donbas region in eastern Ukraine.

Even as negotiators from the two sides assembled in Istanbul, Russian President Vladimir Putin's forces hit an oil depot in western Ukraine late Monday and blasted a gaping hole Tuesday morning in a nine-story government administration building in the southern port city of Mykolaiv. At least seven people were killed in that attack, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said.

Fomin said Moscow has decided to "fundamentally ... cut back military activity in the direction of Kyiv and Chernihiv" to "increase mutual trust and create conditions for further negotiations." He did not immediately spell out what that would mean in practical terms.

Ukraine's military said it has noted withdrawals of some forces around Kyiv and Chernihiv. Pentagon spokesman John Kirby told CNN "we haven't seen anything to corroborate" reports of Russia pulling back significant forces from around Kyiv. "But what we have seen over the last couple of days is they have stopped trying to advance on Kyiv."

The meeting in Istanbul was the first time negotiators from Russia and Ukraine talked face-to-face in two weeks. Earlier talks, held in person in Belarus or by video, made no progress toward ending the more than month-long war that has killed thousands and driven over 10 million Ukrainians from their homes, including almost 4 million who have fled the country.

Ukraine's delegation set out a detailed framework for a peace deal under which the nation would remain neutral but its security would be guaranteed by a group of third countries, including the US, Britain, France, Turkey, China and Poland, in an arrangement similar to NATO's "an attack on one is an attack on all" principle.

Ukraine said it would also be willing to hold talks over a 15-year period on the future of the Crimean Peninsula, seized by Russia in 2014.

The Kremlin has demanded among other things that Ukraine drop any hope of joining NATO. AP

UN LAUNCHES EFFORT TO FIND HUMANITARIAN CEASEFIRE

United Nations: The United Nations chief has launched an initiative to immediately explore possible arrangements for 'a humanitarian cease-fire in Ukraine' in order to allow the delivery of desperately needed aid and pave the way for serious political negotiations to end the month-long war. Secretary-General Antonio Guterres said he used his 'good offices' and asked Undersecretary-General Martin Griffiths, the head of the UN's worldwide humanitarian operations, to explore the possibility of a cease-fire with Russia and Ukraine. He said Griffiths has already made some contacts. "I hope that he will be able to go to both Moscow and Kyiv as soon as that becomes possible," Guterres said. AP

Russian min underlines focus on Donbas

Moscow: Russia's defence minister said "liberating" the Donbas region in eastern Ukraine is the main goal of Moscow's military operation, underlining a possible shift in strategy. Defence Minister Sergei Shoigu, held a meeting with top military officials on Tuesday and said that 'overall, the main tasks of the first stage of the operation have been completed.' He said 'the combat potential of the Ukr-ainian armed forces has been reduced significantly'. AP

Sri Lanka hosps running out of life-saving drugs

COLOMBO

SRI LANKA'S state-run hospitals are running out of life-saving medicines due to a shortage of dollars needed to import essentials as the country reels from a dire economic crisis, officials said on Tuesday.

Teaching Hospital Peradeniya which serves a population of 2.4 million people in the Central province said it was suspending all routine surgeries and was out of anaesthetic drugs and other essentials for operations.

A key health trade union said the problem at Peradeniya was common in most state hospitals where suppliers had not been paid for over six months.

A surgeon at the main National Hospital in Colombo said they were short of many vital medicines and patients requiring human insulin were told to bring their own.

"The situation is very grave and we need a disaster management initiative to deal with the worsening situation," said Ravi Kumudesh, the head of the Medical Laboratory Technologists Association (MLTA).

He said they were unable to carry out diagnostics as most chemicals and solutions needed for their tests were not freely available at state hospitals.

Meanwhile, the government said it allowed suppliers – hit by higher costs – to hike by 30% prices of all medical devices, including stents for heart patients.

Sri Lankans are forced to spend long hours to buy food, fuel and even medicines as the dollar shortage has led to scarce imports in the country's worst economic crisis since independence in 1948.

The country's inflation hit a record 17.5 % in February with food inflation hitting 25%. The government is seeking an IMF bailout after the country's foreign currency reserves fell to $2.0 billion, down from $7.5 billion when the current government took over in November 2019.

Indian Foreign Minister S Jaishankar, who was in Sri Lanka for a regional meeting, said he was "disturbed" by the medical shortages and asked the embassy to look into helping. The Sri Lankan health ministry said it was also rushing fresh supplies to resume surgeries at Peradeniya. AFP

DON'T DROP GUARD AGAINST RUSSIA, URGE US & EUROPE

LONDON

THE leaders of the United States, the United Kindom, France, Germany and Italy on Tuesday urged the West not to drop its guard against Russia after Moscow signalled it would scale down fighting around Kyiv and another Ukrainian city.

"We'll see if they follow through," Biden told reporters in Washington shortly after holding a phone call with the four key western European allies. "There seems to be a consensus that let's just see what they have to offer." In a statement, the White House said the five leaders agreed to no let up in strong economic sanctions imposed on Moscow over its invasion of Ukraine. "The leaders affirmed their determination to continue raising costs on Russia for its brutal attacks in Ukraine, as well as to continue supplying Ukraine with security assistance to defend itself," the statement said.

In London, Prime Minister Boris Johnson's Downing Street office said "they agreed there could be no relaxation of Western resolve until the horror inflicted on Ukraine is over." Johnson echoed Western skepticism. AFP

US moving 'strongly' on Asia-Pacific focus: Biden

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT Joe Biden said on Tuesday that the United States is forging "strongly" ahead on its growing Asia-Pacific focus, despite the crisis sparked by Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

Hosting Singapore's Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong in the Oval Office, Biden said the world's "rules-based order" faces "unprecedented challenges," but that Washington has not been distracted by the Ukraine war.

"Even as we address the crisis in Europe, my administration is strongly supportive of moving rapidly to implement the Indo-Pacific strategy," Biden said.

Describing the United States as "a proud Indo-Pacific nation," Biden said he wanted to ensure that the region remains "free and open" – a reference to what the White House sees as attempts by rising power China to dominate international trade routes.

Lee urged closer ties between the United States and the ASEAN grouping, saying "it helps the US to be present in the Asia-Pacific and to deepen its relations with many friends and to strengthen its strategic interests in the region." AFP

Hero denies I-T report of ₹1k cr bogus expenses

A large number of incriminating evidence is reported to have been seized by the I-T Dept during search operations

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

THE Hero MotoCorp- Income Tax Department saga has taken a fresh turn. After the two-wheeler-maker said last week that the I-T search operation of March 23 was a routine affair, a fresh media report said that the Department has found the company making more than ₹1,000 crore bogus expenses and over ₹100 crore cash transactions for a farmhouse in Chhattarpur, Delhi.

Hero MotorCorp, however, categorically denied the media report. "The allegations made in the press report are not borne out of any document that have been served on us or our internal documents. Therefore, we categorically deny the speculative press reports," Hero MotoCorp said.

It added, "We wish to clarify that officials from the Income Tax department visited our offices in the previous week. The Company has provided all support and cooperation, necessary documents and data to the authorities and will continue to do so if required.

Hero also said that as and when the tax department concludes its findings and communicates, they would inform the exchanges suitably.

A news agency on Tuesday reported that a large number of incriminating evidence in the form of hard copy documents and digital data was seized by the I-T Dept during the search operations.

The report had a big impact on Hero MotoCorp's share prices. The stock declined over 7% to close the Tuesday session at ₹2,208.35 on the BSE.

It touched day's low of ₹2,155 , which was ₹7 away from its 52-week low of ₹2,148. The I-T Dept on March 23 had conducted searches on several premises linked to Hero MotoCorp Chairman & CEO Pawan Munjal and other senior executives of the company over allegations of tax evasion.

The company had then said this is a routine inquiry, which is not uncommon before the end of the financial year. It reassured its stakeholders that it continues to be business as usual.

HERO TWO-WHEELERS TO BE EXPENSIVE BY ₹2K

Hero MotoCorp will make an upward revision in the ex-showroom prices of its motorcycles and scooters, with effect from April 5, 2022. The price revision will be up to `2,000 and the exact quantum of increase will be subject to specific model and the market. The company said it took the decision to offset the impact of increasing commodity prices.

The series of new content launches and investment in OTT should improve its network market share. However, the sluggishness in ad spends by FMCG players and rising RM prices across multiple sectors pose a risk. We are factoring in 23% PAT CAGR over FY22-24E. Clarity on Sony acquisition timelines is key to the performance. The potential re-rating will be governed by: a) recovery in the ad market b) early completion of Sony merger deal. We maintain Buy rating.

JAPAN

TO COMMUNICATE CLOSELY WITH US ON FX AS YEN HITS 6-YEAR LOW

Japan and the United States agreed to communicate closely on currency issues, Japan's top currency diplomat said on Tuesday in his strongest statement yet since the yen's decline to six-year lows against the dollar. Masato Kanda, vice finance minister for international affairs, also said that "excess volatility and disorderly currency moves" would hurt the economy. The prospect of aggressive US interest rate hikes and the BOJ's decisive moves to defend its 0.25% yield cap have pushed the yen to six-year lows against the dollar. The yen has lost almost 7% against the greenback so far this year. It last traded at 123.63 per dollar after falling as low as 125.10 on Monday, its lowest since August 2015. Japanese policymakers have escalated their warnings over the impact of sharp yen falls on the world's third-biggest economy as it struggles to recover from the impact of the pandemic and as the war in Ukraine further increased the cost of oil. "We discussed financial market developments including dollar-yen moves," Kanda told reporters after meeting his counterpart Andy Baukol, acting Under Secretary of International Affairs at the US Department of the Treasury.

CHINA

YUAN RALLIES OFF 2-WEEK LOW, CORPORATE BUYING SEEN IN LOCKDOWN-THINNED TRADING

The yuan bounced from a near two-week low against the dollar on Tuesday, thanks to some corporate demand while trading volumes contracted as Shanghai began the first phase of a two-stage lockdown. Some market participants were forced to work from home due to the restrictions on movement aimed at stifling the spread of Covid-19 in China's financial hub. State-owned Securities Times on Tuesday flagged chances that the People's Bank of China (PBOC) could reduce bank's reserve requirement ratio in the near-term to support credit expansion and prop up economic growth amid the lockdown in China's most populous city. Prior to market opening, the PBOC set the midpoint rate at 6.364 per dollar, 92 pips firmer than the previous fix 6.3732, but 39 pips softer than Reuters' estimate of 6.3601. Some traders and analysts believe dollar liquidity onshore remained ample, which could give the yuan some protection as rising interest rates in the United States and other major economies draw money out of China.

SRI LANKA

SHARES PLUMMET NEARLY 5%

Sri Lanka shares dove nearly 5% on Tuesday in a broad-based slump sparked by worries about the island nation's depleting foreign currency reserves, while data showed the economy grew at a slower-than-expected pace in the December quarter. The CSE All-Share index declined for a second straight session, closing down 4.88% at 9,647.55 points. Sri Lanka's economy grew by 1.8% in the fourth quarter of the 2021 financial year, taking its full year growth to 3.7%, data from the government's statistics department showed. The island nation is currently seeing its worst economic crisis in decades and the International Monetary Fund has said that Sri Lanka needed a "comprehensive strategy" to make its debt sustainable. Sri Lanka has sought an additional credit line of $1.5 billion from India to import essentials, central bank governor said on Monday. The country's foreign exchange reserves have fallen 70% in the past two years to about $2.31 billion, leaving it struggling to pay for essential imports, including food and fuel. On Tuesday, financial and industrial stocks accounted for nearly half the losses on the index.

FM says inflation to come down in FY23

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FINANCE minister Nirmala Sitharaman has said that the government believes inflation would come down, and that 3.1% GDP deflator is feasible in 2022-23. The FM was responding to questions on credibility of budget estimates in the Rajya Sabha on Tuesday.

She said that the GDP deflator, which is the difference between nominal and real GDP growth rate, has been 3.15% over the past five years and the estimate for 2022-23 is close to the five-year estimate.

She said that deflator is neither consumer inflation (CPI) nor is it the wholesale inflation (WPI) and that it has components of both. She admitted that the wholesale inflation is much higher than the retail inflation, but reiterated that the government believes the wholesale inflation would shrink in 2022-23. The Wholesale Inflation in February was 13.11% while the retail inflation was 6.1% during the month.

She was responding to Congress Rajya Sabha MP and former finance minister P Chidambaram's question on budget estimate of 11.1% nominal GDP growth even as the Economic Survey puts the real GDP growth rate at 8-8.5%. Chidambaram had, therefore, questioned the government's inflation (deflator) estimates in 2022-23.

The Finance Minister said that the Economic Survey is an independent report, and the budget estimates are based on advanced estimates released by the National Statistics Office (NSO). She hinted that there could be differences in the Economic Survey estimates and the Budget estimates.

Petrol, diesel price breaches ₹100/L mark across India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

PRICES of petrol and diesel on Tuesday breached the ₹100 a litre mark across the country as Oil Marketing Companies (OMCs) hiked prices for the seventh time in eight days.

Petrol and diesel prices went up by 80 and 70 paise a litre respectively. In the National Capital Region, petrol is retailing at ₹100.21 a litre while diesel is selling at ₹91.47; in Mumbai, petrol costs ₹115.04 while diesel costs ₹99.25. As per the price notification, the cheapest petrol price is at Dehradun, where it costs ₹98.64 per litre and highest is at Aurangabad, where it is retailing at ₹116.65 per litre.

The price of transport fuel is revised by the OMCs on a daily basis, in line with International crude price. However, petrol and diesel prices were kept unchanged since November 4 last year when the government cut excise duty on petrol by ₹5 per litre and by ₹10 on diesel. It said the reduction in excise duty on transport fuel will boost consumption and keep inflation low. Since then the crude price in the international market has seen various ups and downs.

The Brent Crude Future, the benchmark of oil price in the international market, even touched $139 per barrel, highest since 2008. The daily price revision of transport fuel started on 22nd March, since then fuel retailers have hiked ₹4.80 per litre on both petrol and diesel.

A report of J P Morgan noted the fuel prices may be hiked to bridge the ₹9 a litre gap created by international oil prices soaring past $100 a barrel. It said with Brent Crude trading at $105 per barrel the Oil Marketing Companies are losing ₹5 to ₹7 per litre. The Brent Crude future on 29 March 2022 was trading at $109.42 per barrel while WTI was trading at $102.94 per barrel. The prices of petrol and diesel vary from state to state, depending on the incidence of local taxes like value-added tax (VAT) and freight charges. Therefore, one could find variation in prices.

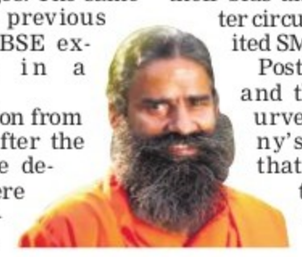
BSE clarifies on Ruchi Soya's FPO; stock jumps 15%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE BSE (Bombay Stock Exchange) on Tuesday said figures for Ruchi Soya follow-on-public offer (FPO) that were displayed early Tuesday were its standalone numbers for Monday. The exchange said that it was in touch with the capital market regulator Sebi to know whether it is required to disseminate the FPO data till Wednesday.

BSE, later in the day, also said it displays cumulative bids of both exchanges every 3 minutes. "Ruchi Soya FPO extended for two days for only withdrawal of bids as per SEBI's directive. Since this was sudden change of process and system had to consider these changes, for few updates in cumulative bids details section only BSE bids data was shown instead of cumulative data of both the exchanges. The same was restored to previous day data," the BSE exchange said in a statement.

This clarification from the BSE came after the BSE cumulative demand page, where subscription levels are shown, was showing the Ruchi Soya's FPO subscription levels to be around 2.58x compared with 3.6x on Monday.



To note, the Sebi has asked the Patanjali Ayurved-owned company to allow existing bidders of the FPO to reconsider their bids until March 20th after circulation of "unsolicited SMSes" emerged.

Post this clarification and the Patanjali Ayurved-owned company's announcement that the SMSes pertaining to investments in its FPO have not been issued by the company or its promoters and that the company has filed a first information report to investigate the origin of the messages, the company's stock rallied by 15.94% to close at ₹944.95 apiece on the BSE.

Intraday prices had jumped to ₹978.05 on the BSE, a surge of 19.99%. This surge on stock prices came after Ruchi Soya's share prices fell over 10% over the past four days.

Ruchi Soya had launched a ₹4,300-crore FPO on March 24 to pay back its ₹3,300 crore of debt and use the remaining amount for corporate purposes.

Govt to sell 1.5% stake of ONGC via OFS

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government on Tuesday informed that it is going to sell 1.5% equity stake of Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) through an offer for sale (OFS) to raise up to ₹3000 crore.

It will launch the offer for sale on 30 March 2022, in which 19 crore shares at a floor price of ₹159 per share will be on sale. "Offer for Sale' for 1.5% equity stake sale in ONGC, including 0.75% Green Shoe option opens tomorrow. Retail investors can bid on Thursday," tweeted secretary DIPAM.

Right now, the government holds a 60.41% stake in ONGC, after this deal it will be left with 58.91% stake in the company.

The company would offer to sell 94.3 million shares or 0.75% stake for non-retail investors on Wednesday and an additional 94.3 million or 0.75% would open for retail investors on Thursday.

The floor price for the sale has been set at ₹159, at about 7% discount to the stock's closing price of ₹171 on Tuesday. The state owned oil and gas company said equity shares representing 0.075% equity in the company have been reserved for eligible employees of the PSU. The employees can apply for equity shares worth up to ₹5 lakh each. It has reserved 25% of the shares for mutual funds and insurance companies while 10% for retail investors. Institutional or non-retail investors will get an option to carry forward their unallocated bids to the next day for allocation from the unsubscribed portion for retail investors. The issue will open for retail investors on March 31.

The sale is the part of government divestment target of ₹78,000 crore for FY22. It has only garnered ₹12,424 crore in divestment receipts this year.

CRYPTO INDUSTRY STILL HOPEFUL OF CHANGES IN TAX

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

DESPITE the Lok Sabha passing the Finance Bill 2022, introducing a 30% tax on virtual digital assets (VDA) from April 1, the crypto industry still sees space for reasonable changes in tax policy.

"A lower TDS can provide the government with the required tax trail without locking up the users' capital. A higher TDS does not increase tax compliance, instead, it could drive away users from KYC-compliant platforms to the grey market," said Ashish Singhal, Co-founder and CEO, CoinSwitch.

The crypto market is driven by high-frequency traders, like intraday traders in equity markets. These traders operate on extremely thin margins, and locking up their capital with high TDS will restrict their ability to operate, he added.

A flat 30% tax that does not differentiate short-term capital gains from long-term gains, with no provision for deducting expenses incurred or offsetting losses is not in tune with the tax framework for other asset classes, and is discriminatory, the CoinSwitch co-founder said.

Ever since Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announced a 30% tax and 1% TDS in the Budget, crypto exchanges have been saying that the tax will be detrimental to the investor growth. Indians have already invested more than $6 billion in cryptos.

"Crypto is a global asset class and an investment product, not a form of speculation. The tax rate should have at least been the same as it is for other asset classes so as to minimize the impact on investors who do not fall into the highest tax slab," said Sumit Gupta, Co-Founder & CEO, CoinDCX.

Blockchain and Crypto Assets Council says that the proposed section 115BBH of the Income Tax Act of 1961, which states that "loss from the transfer of VDA will not be allowed to be set off against the income arising from transfer of another VDA", will have a negative impact on investor behaviour and tax collection.

Cognizant staff to return to office from April 18

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

BEGINNING April 18, employees of IT major Cognizant Technology Solutions can work from offices on a voluntary basis.

The company has been talking about adopting a hybrid working model, and it said that this model will be adopted fully by late this year or by early 2023.

The company will begin a phased return to office (RTO) approach starting April 18 and through the remainder of Q2 (The company follows the calendar year). In an email to employees, the IT major's senior official has said that as space permits, and on a voluntary basis, employees are welcome to work from an open office to collaborate face-to-face with colleagues.

"While some geographies already follow this approach, we are excited to be able to open office access more broadly globally," the official said.

Ever since the beginning of the pandemic, employees of IT companies have been working from home. Apart from Cognizant, Infosys and TCS too said that they would bring its employees back to offices in coming months. According to clients' requirements, already a few employees of IT companies have started working twice a week from the office.

From July to December 2022, Cognizant will classify associates to their new work location: Client, Cognizant office or remote. "This will assist in the gradual transition from voluntary RTO to a more structured hybrid model. Compared to pre-pandemic, more associates will split time between home and the office," Cognizant said.

The US-headquartered company, which employs over 2 lakh people in India, also said that it will open half of its facilities at a limited capacity this year.

An employee with the IT company said that based on clients' requirements they would be returning to offices for the first time in two years.

ROYAL SHOW

Rajasthan echo captain's ethos as their batting might blows away Hyderabad

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

FEARLESS mindset. Expressing themselves. No second thoughts. Freedom, Enjoy batting. This is what Rajasthan Royals' captain, Sanju Samson, wanted from his batting group on the eve of their opening Indian Premier League (IPL) match against Sunrisers Hyderabad.

On Tuesday, at the Maharashtra Cricket Association stadium, after being presented with a flat deck and up against a Hyderabad attack that was generous and had only Bhuvneshwar Kumar posing threat, Rajasthan showed their firepower. In a top five consisting of Jos Buttler, Yashasvi Jaiswal, Devdutt Padikkal, Shimron Hetmyer, and Samson himself, the latter had the sort of characters who could play his desired brand of cricket. Apart from Padikkal, who too didn't take the pedal off the feet on Tuesday, all their batters can hit straight away. This sort of batting has its pros and cons. If it doesn't get going straight-away, it can plant seeds of doubt.

Which is why, from a purely confidence-inducing point of view, Rajasthan had an ideal day with the bat. And Hyderabad were sloppy too. Against such a batting line-up that is capable of inflicting heavy damage, all it takes is wickets with the new ball and there are few better than Kumar to make early inroads. He found Buttler's edge for a nought off the fifth ball of the first over, but only for the siren to go off. That was the first of four no-balls that Hyderabad bowlers delivered. Still at 13/0 in three overs, with Kumar in the middle of a miserly spell where he was making the ball talk, Hyderabad still seemed in control. But from there on it all went downhill as Buttler picked 21 runs of Umran Malik's over. In the previous seasons, they would have had Rashid Khan to rescue, but failure to hold on to him and the absence of a quality spinner meant Kane Williamson needed his pacers to put the breaks. However, Rajasthan were in no mood to take the pedal off. After Jaiswal departed in the first ball of seventh over, Samson walked ahead of Padikkal to keep the momentum going.

While Hyderabad did manage to ensure Buttler and Samson didn't stay together for long with Umran accounting for the former, Padikkal wasn't showing any respite. Padikkal's innings was a revelation in terms of buying into the Rajasthan's philosophy. A 73-run stand off just 41 balls between Samson (55, 27b, 3x4, 5x6) and Padikkal (41, 29b, 4x4, 2x6) crushed Hyderabad's souls. And whatever little life was left in them was brutally buried by Hetmyer (32, 13b, 2x4, 3x6). It would be too early to say Rajasthan have finally managed to crack the code, but these are encouraging signs for a team that looks to play to a template. While a total of 210 conceded will not portray a good picture, Hyderabad bowled as many as 50 dot balls (eight maiden overs) but still Rajasthan managed to score 210 off just 70 deliveries thanks to 14 sixes and 16 fours.

It is the sort of brand that Samson plays, the sort he wants his batting unit to play. That he set the tone in the first game himself would do a world of good for Rajasthan.

Brief scores: RR 210/6 in 20 ovs (Samson 55, Padikal 41, Buttler 35, Hetmyer 32) vs SRH 149/7 in 20 ovs (Markram 57 n.o, Washington 40, Chahal 3/22).

RCB SEEK TURNAROUND AGAINST KKR

After losing their way against Punjab Kings, Royal Challengers Bangalore will hope to right the wrongs against Kolkata Knight Riders, who had a solid opening day win. A look at the match-up at DY Patil Stadium on Wednesday...

LIVE ON SS 7:30 PM @ MUMBAI

More intent at the top

Faf du Plessis eventually exploded but a failure to properly use the powerplay eventually meant they had a slightly undercooked total. Could there be a change in approach at the top, depending on the surface?

New-ball potential

Fast-bowlers have had some success with the new ball and Umesh Yadav, who picked two in no time against Chennai, will look to do something similar. Likewise, Bangalore's array of speedsters will also look to do something similar.

Spin key in middle overs

As seen in the past, teams tend to use spinners to choke runscoring against the likes of Faf du Plessis and Virat Kohli, especially in middle-overs. Even in their first match of this season, Punjab's Rahul Chahar conceded just 22 runs and took one wicket in his four overs. How the Bengaluru duo plays Sunil Narine and Varun Chakravarthy could more or less be the deciding factor of the contest.

2 Kolkata have won the last two games against Bangalore.

14.75 Siraj went for 14.75 during his four overs against Punjab.

'Grateful' Osaka in quarters

AP @Miami

MAKING the quarterfinals at a tournament used to be no big deal for Naomi Osaka. It was only a shock if it didn't happen. Things are a bit different now.

The former World No 1 has made it through to the quarterfinals at the Miami Open — just the second time she has managed to advance that deep in any tournament over the last year. Osaka beat Alison Riske of the US 6-3, 6-4 on Monday, moving into a round-of-eight matchup with Danielle Collins. Osaka's only other quarterfinal appearance in the last year was at an Australian Open warm-up tournament in Melbourne in January. Before that, her most recent quarterfinals trip was at Miami a year ago. "It's really funny for me, because last year here I made it to the quarters, too," Osaka said. "It was after I won Australia and I wasn't that grateful. I kind of expected to win."

Wins these days just mean more, after ongoing struggles and time away from the game to deal with her mental health. Her ranking has dipped to No 77 — it could get somewhere around No 30 if she wins the Miami title — and she hasn't won a tournament since that Australian Open last year.

Inaugural U-19 WC in T20 format

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

THE International Cricket Council CEO, Geoff Allardice, has confirmed that the first edition of the ICC Women's U-19 World Cup, scheduled to happen in January 2023, will be played in the T20 format.

Meanwhile, the expansion of the T20 World Cup to 12 teams and the ODI version to 10 teams will happen in 2026 and 2029, respectively. "With regards to the next cycle and looking ahead to the next World Cup we've just expanded the competition (the Women's Championship) to ten teams. That will just provide a regular diet of cricket for the top national teams during the next two to three years," he said.

Lauding the performances of Pakistan and Bangladesh at the ongoing World Cup, he said that the upsets have been proof of the collective growth. "Bangladesh, in its first World Cup and the first time they've played against a lot of these teams, they acquitted themselves very well, and won their first game. Pakistan also winning its first game for 13 years."

With as many as six ICC competitions lined up (a T20 Champions Trophy, two T20s, two U-19, and a ODI World Cup) for the next championship cycle of 2024-2027, a busy calendar is in place for the women. The ICC Women's Championship league structure would provide a significant number of opportunities for teams like Bangladesh and Ireland in the upcoming cycle, something they haven't had in the past. Thailand and Sri Lanka, the two teams that commenced the qualifiers well last year, missed out on the upcoming championship as the event had to be called off midway due to the pandemic.

Better defensive game has lifted us: Chirag

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

FOR the last month and a bit, Chirag Shetty had been suffering with a disk bulge in his back. But he has gamely soldiered on, after skipping the German Open. In the company of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy, the doubles ace played and, in his own words, 'played one of our best matches ever against Marcus (Gideon) and Kevin (Sukamuljo)' at All England Open. Even though the Indian duo lost, Chirag liked the way they handled the Indonesian World No 1. In an interview with this daily, Chirag, who is better now, speaks about how their game has evolved, the continuing influence of Danish coach Mathias Boe and a loaded 2022. Excerpts...

On season so far

We had a great start to the season, winning the India Open. We didn't play the German Open because I had a bulging disk in my back. It was a lot of pain and couldn't really train. But even then, we managed a good match against Kevin and Marcus at All England. It was probably our best match against them.

On how they are approaching the year

The key is to peak during all the big events. We have three big events lined up back-to-back (see table). There is also the Thomas Cup which is another big event.

On how their game has evolved over the years

Now there is a conscious effort to develop our defensive game. When we started out, we were attacking and our defensive game was only about retrieving. Now, I feel that we can win points with our defensive game or convert our defense into attack quickly. This is one of the reasons why we had a good match against Kevin and Marcus. We had a counter-attacking style that worked well (they lost 22-24, 17-21). Last year, we played them twice and you could see we weren't good enough, including at the Olympics (they lost 13-21, 12-21).

On have they started working with Tan Kim Her

Not yet. We are working with Vijaydeep Singh.

On whether they still talk to Boe

We are in conversations with him, mostly on Zoom. Even during All England we had a few conversations with him.

Ever since Will Smith's wife Jada Pinkett was mocked for being bald at The Oscars, people have been Googling 'Alopecia' — the condition that Jada suffers from. Experts share their experience with dealing with the illness

BALD STATEMENT

ANILA KURIAN

EVER since the Academy Awards on Monday, social media has been abuzz with the dramatic goings-on. It all started with comedian Chris Rock's comment on Will Smith's wife, Jada Pinkett Smith's condition — Alopecia — that ticked off Smith to the extent that he went on stage and slapped Rock.

Since then, there's one question on everyone's minds. What is Alopecia? Dr Chytra V Anand, celebrity cosmetic dermatologist, explains, "Androgenic alopecia is hereditary hair loss where men and women can have pattern baldness. Here, hair loss usually occurs gradually. While some people experience it as early as puberty, others may notice symptoms in their 40s."

She points out that female pattern baldness frequently causes scalp thinning. "It may also appear to be widening or thinning around the part. Male pattern baldness, is characterised by progressive hair loss above the temples and crown thinning," she explains.

Will Smith

IT professional Nicolette John had Alopecia a couple of years ago. "I covered it with my long hair for a long time before I consulted a doctor," says John, who went on medications for three months. "The doctor recommended stress-reducing activities and I started to see a difference," says John, who worries it will recur.

According to image consultant Babita Jaishankar, the best way to deal with Alopecia is to learn to deal with it. One of her clients had both vitiligo and Alopecia, and Jaishankar recalls working with her to improve her confidence. "This working professional wore wigs. Advising her to go bald and feel confident was a wrong approach. The coaching had to be done to give her confidence from within to accept it and be sure of herself before she could flaunt her so-called flaws," she explains.

In a country that prides itself for sporting long hair, Alopecia is a topic that is almost never discussed. "Everyone's going to judge you no matter what. So it's important to accept who you are and accept others," Jaishankar opines.

'JUST ACCEPT IT'

Since the incident at The Oscars, Sandalwood director Pawan Kumar shared his experience with Alopecia. On his social media account, he posted a picture showing the bald spot. He wrote, "I was shocked to see that a patch of my hair had almost disappeared overnight. Went to the doctor and I was told this is called alopecia (sic)" After months of medications, and mental trauma, he started getting used to it. "When people say they are offended bcoz of jokes about medical condition... It is bcoz we judge them, instead if we learn to say "so what"... Then maybe they will feel a lot better and be ok with it.. it's a reality the nature has presented to us... And the only thing we can do is accept it and make the best of it. (sic)"

3. The oldest of all streets/ roads in Bengaluru is the Avenue Road. It is one of the two main streets laid by Kempegowda even before the fort was erected in 1537. The name 'Avenue Road' was probably derived from the stretch of coconut trees that lined on either side. What was this historic road earliest known as?

FIT BIT

SUPINE PELVIC TILT TUCK

This yoga practice is one of the fundamental exercises to develop an awareness of the pelvis and the natural curvatures of the spine. The pelvis has many different functions, including structural stability and movements like standing, walking, and running, to name a few. As the asana aids postural change, yoga masters can integrate four or five minutes of this practice. It can help to avoid postural misalignments that can impact actions like sitting, walking, running, or simply standing.

STEPS
- Lie on your back with bent knees and the soles of your feet flat on the mat.
- Bring your arms close to your hips, palms facing down.
- Inhale and tilt your pelvis forward by slowly arching your lower back.
- Exhale, release the pelvis, and let your spine relax in a neutral position.
- Once again, inhale and press your lower back into the mat and tilt your pelvic upward, towards the spine.
- Now, the lower back is lengthened, and the gap between the lower back and the mat is closed.
- Then, exhale and release the tuck, and allow your back to relax.
- You may repeat this posture 4 to 5 times in each direction.
- Make sure you don't feel any discomfort or pain in any direction.
- Now, relax in Shavasana (Corpse Pose) for a few seconds before moving ahead into the practice of other postures.
- You may follow up the supine pelvic tilt and tuck with standing or seated pelvic tilt and tuck exercises.

BENEFITS
- Develops awareness of the natural curvature of the spine and core.
- Strengthens the core and lower back muscles.
- It can provide relief to the symptoms caused by Kyphosis, Scoliosis or Lordosis in the body.
- Helps in most cases of hyperlordosis and stresses the lower back muscles.
- It can also help a lot of the dancers, gymnasts, sportsmen perform better in their chosen field, and keep them away from hip and pelvic injuries.

LIMITATIONS
- Those with acute pain in the back or recent/chronic injury or surgery should consult a yoga therapist.
- Yoga teachers should give clear instructions while introducing this asana.
- Senior citizens may be advised to practise on a chair, for the safety of the tailbone and spine.

'I MUSTERED MY COURAGE'

I got a call for the physical test for the post of PSI a week before the prelim exam of the UPSC. I was not used to exercising; besides, I had lost weight due to the unhealthy food that I ate in Mumbai and Thane. I could hardly do a couple of push-ups. I could not sprint for the required 800 metres. On the day of the physical test, I went to the police ground at Naygaon. I met with PSI Kamble, who hailed from the neighbouring village. Many a time, he would visit the area near Petit Library in style, riding a Bullet motorcycle and wearing Ray-Ban sunglasses, to meet his friends. We mingled with his friends, in the hopes that he would offer us tea. He came close to me, patted my back and wished me heartily, saying, 'You are lucky, Vishwas. You must emerge victorious today. Such an opportunity comes only once in a lifetime. You too must prove that you are a tiger, like me, from the banks of the Warna River. You are sure to become a police sub-inspector.'

I mustered up my courage and strength. Teams of six candidates each had to complete two laps on the 400-metre-long track at full speed. I picked up speed immediately after the whistle was sounded but suffered cramps in my stomach after 200 metres. My speed reduced and I did the second lap walking. PSI Kamble was cheering me on, but I had no strength left to run. When I stepped out of the track, a frustrated PSI Kambale shook me and rebuked me, saying, 'Only a loser would give up this God-sent opportunity.' I said, 'Sir, if Lady Luck smiles at me, you will be saluting me around this time next year.' He said, 'You are free to have unrealistic big dreams. Now go and study instead of wasting your time making empty promises. If you become a big boss, I would not be ashamed to salute a tiger coming from the banks of the Warna.'

Tired, I returned to my room. My entire body was aching. Nimat gave me a tablet of Combiflam. I had to revise for the prelim examination. To successfully accomplish this, I had maintained a 500-page register for general studies preparation, with 100 pages allotted to each section. Whatever I found important, I jotted down in the relevant section of the register. This ensured that I was not just dragging through the track, but carefully picking and plucking the flowers. I had stored these pearls of knowledge in the register, and it was time to realize their worth. I had also highlighted important sections in the general studies study kit and Tata McGraw Hill. While studying, I started by reading the entire chapter first, though I understood little. During that preliminary reading, I underlined the difficult words, found their meanings in the dictionary, assigned them a number and jotted down the meaning on the margin of the same page. In the second reading, I lay emphasis on comprehension, underlining the important lines. In the third reading, I wrote down the précis of every paragraph in a line or two in my micro notes. I marked these notes with blue, red or black pencils, depending on the importance of the content.

New book claims 'widening rift' between Biden and Harris

A new book claims there is a 'widening rift' between US president Joe Biden and vice president Kamala Harris. The claims are made in forthcoming book, This Will Not Pass: Trump, Biden and the Battle for America's Future, by Alexander Burns and Jonathan Martin. The new book emerges as Biden's approval ratings dropped to a new low of 40 per cent this week. The book, which will be out in May, is twisting the knife by alleging that the widespread public perception of Harris as imperious, insecure and out of her depth is shared even in the White House. According to leaked excerpts of the book to Politico, the relationship between the Biden and Harris camps are getting worse and is now characterised by anger, mutual contempt and turf wars, the report said. – IANS

Ishan Khosla's jacket for 'Kintsugi' wins Oxford Bookstore Book Cover Prize

'Kintsugi' is the ancient Japanese art of mending broken objects with gold, and designer Ishan Khosla has delicately woven this concept into the jacket for a similarly titled novel authored by Anukrti Upadhyay to win the seventh edition of the Oxford Bookstore Book Cover Prize that was announced on Thursday evening, with a jury member declaring it to be "astonishing". "Designing a cover is not an easy task. On one hand the cover must be bold enough and interesting enough to grab the attention of the passer by or the scroller. On the other it must convey the essence of the book literally or metaphorically," Khosla, who has an MFA from New York's School of Visual Arts and runs a hugely successful design studio in the national capital, told IANS after the award was announced. "For Kintsugi, it was as much a joy to design the cover as it was to read the book. I worked on various concepts as one always does trying to bring about the various qualities of the book, the fragmentary nature, the evocative and mesmerising quality of the writing and the fragility of the human experience," he added. – IANS

Bringing back the traffic

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

EVEN as a youngster, I thought of myself as an old man. Pet peeves would rile me up, everyday occurrences would spite me. All my life, I have complained and cribbed about traffic in cities. A firm believer of public transport (while not a frequent commuter), nothing annoys me more than people stuck behind each other in vehicles. 'Rage' is a strong word, but I admit to suffering from a mild case of Road Irritation.

With IT companies calling their employees back to offices, traffic on the roads is beginning to resemble pre-pandemic levels. The 'Deja-phew' comes sweeping back – of waiting hopelessly in traffic while staring at nothing in particular. Of looking at the time a few times and eventually leaving it to destiny.

But this time, instead of cribbing, I'd like to welcome the traffic back with open arms. If I'm being completely honest, I had begun to miss the traffic. One of my early memories of the pandemic is stepping out to buy essentials a few days after the lockdown was announced. There wasn't a soul in sight. My favourite shops were shut, even the stray dogs did not wag their tails to greet me. The streets looked like the sets of a zombie-apocalypse movie starring Tom Cruise. It made me both sad and scared at the same time. That's when I realised how much I miss the traffic.

The long hours of waiting, the incessant honking of cars – a Morse code of its own. A honk when someone overtakes, or when the light turns green. A honk when the clock strikes 4.20 pm, or if it's a Wednesday, or the birthday of a local MLA. A morse code with absolutely no code of honour. I want to hear the white noise of frustrated drivers again. I miss the folks who gulp down a can of energy drink and graciously leave the last few drops for co-commuters on the road. Or those who occupy the window seats in buses, and spit benevolently upon those on the road. People who park bikes, and quickly run to relieve themselves by the side of the road. Or those cousins of Doctor Strange, who pause all traffic by stretching out their hand in front of incoming vehicles. Give me back that one genius who decides to reverse at a U-Turn, causing the traffic behind him to metamorphose into a gigantic snail. The cow chewing cud nonchalantly in the middle of the road, musing about its increased status in society. The people who sell stuff at traffic spots – analog versions of Instagram influencers – selling everything from abnormally long pens to fidget spinners. I have been missing all of them.

Increased traffic is a sign of people returning to cities, of humanity crawling back to normalcy. Shops and bars will be open again, playing songs loud enough for Martians to headbang to. Strangers will share drinks and step out as friends. Pubs will echo with the independent voices of young singers. People will gather to listen to comedians with mics in hand and fears in their hearts. People will look at their phones at 11.30 pm and do a mental calculation of how much they drank, how far they must drive, and where the 'police checking' might be set up.

Give me back the traffic – that constantly throbbing lifeline of the city. That vein pumping through the city's heart – buzzing, honking and smoking. Give me back the chaos, the noise, smoke, and the intermittent spikes in blood pressure. Give me back the traffic. Let me watch my city thrive again!

Aagust 15 to be a period horror 3D film

Father-son duo Srikanth HR and Kishan will be taking care of direction and stereography, respectively; film produced by Bigg Boss Season 8 contestant, Prashanth Sambargi

CE FEATURES

Father-son duo Srikanth HR and Kishan are teaming up for a period horror 3D film. Titled Aagust 15, Srikanth, who had last directed Teenage, is making a comeback after a hiatus. His son, Kishan, the youngest director of Care of Footpath fame is on board as a stereographer.

Interestingly, the 3D film is produced by Bigg Boss contestant, Prashanth Sambargi under his VR3D India banner. The latter, who has been partly investing in films and distribution has now turned into a full-fledged producer. The details of this 3D film and its star cast are kept under wraps.

However, we have learnt that Aagust 15 is made in 12 Indian languages, and also will be dubbed and released in Mandarin Chinese. The makers have filmed crucial portions of the film in the interior parts of Karnataka. They are now in the final leg of shooting in Bengaluru. The team is coming up with sets to recreate the 1947 era and the current period, where they will shoot the climax portions.

'I HAVE ALWAYS LOVED TO WORK IN MY MOTHER TONGUE, KANNADA'

A SHARADHAA

UPENDRA-starrer Home Minister has been awaiting the release for quite some time now. Vedhika, who plays the female lead in the Sujay K Srihari's directorial, shares that the film was shot before the pandemic but the timing wasn't just right for a release. "Pandemic created havoc in the entertainment industry, and makers were in a dilemma when it came to releasing the films. I did have a few movies coming on OTT. However, in the case of the Home Minister, the makers believed in the project and they felt the Upendra-starrer would pull in the crowd. Now, we are releasing the film during the festive season of Ugadi," says Vedhika ahead of the release on April 1.

...says Vedhika, who talks about her upcoming film, Home Minister, and working with Real star Upendra

Throwing light on her character, Vedhika shares that she plays a journalist for the first time in Home Minister. "I have always loved to come back to Kannada and work in my mother tongue. After working in Shivarajkumar's Shivalinga, I was looking for the right script to return to Kannada, and Home Minister fit the bill. The film has me playing a dynamic person, representing today's woman, and it enabled me to explore my acting abilities," says Vedhika, adding, "To play this role, I had to mouth many dialogues. I was given 2-3 page dialogues every day. Since it was my mother tongue, I was able to manage it. This role has me playing various shades, which will be interesting for the audience to watch."

What is the intended message that is brought out with the Home Minister where Upendra is seen playing a homemaker, and she is a working woman? "There is nothing to be ashamed of 'him' doing housework. That's what mostly happened during the Covid and lockdown period, and people would understand this film better. We don't have to be preachy about gender roles if people enjoy whatever they are doing," she explains.

This is the first time Vedhika is sharing screen space with Upendra, and she says, "I knew about Upendra through his works. But when I got to work with him in Home Minister, I realised he is extremely humble and has a child-like innocence in him. He is very genuine and brings out the best in everybody around him. I must say that Upendra has played the titular role with a lot of positivity," she signs off.

Diganth

DIGANTH TO HEADLINE ROM-COM TITLED ANTHU INTHU

The film brings on board Brinda Muralidhar, an Indian currently based in Canada for a heartwarming romantic international family-drama produced by Jayashree Raj

CE FEATURES

DIGANTH'S next film has been titled Anthu Inthu. Notably, the romcom will be jointly produced by two women. B Jayashree Raj and author-writer Brinda Muralidhar under their banners JM Productions and 1CanMedia Creations, respectively. Apart from producing the film, Brinda will also be directing it.

Jayashree is a renowned name on the small screen. She has been a part of the industry for 24 years and has produced serials for 7 years. Anthu Inthu will be her maiden feature film. "Brinda is a Kannadiga from Mysuru, and she has settled now in Canada. She has earlier directed a successful and acclaimed English film, Knot Not. Anthu Inthu will be her first Kannada film," says Jayashree.

Brinda Muralidhar and B Jayashree Raj

Anthu Inthu is said to revolve around a boy born in India and brought up in Canada. The emotions his family goes through form the crux of the film. "We are calling this film an international family drama because it showcases the cross-culture in India and Canada," shares Jayashree.

Eighty per cent of the shooting will take place in Canada, and the remaining portions will be completed in India.

The makers have roped in senior actors Girija Lokesh and Ravi Shankar Gowda to play prominent roles. The team are in the process of finalising the rest. "We are particularly looking for a Canada-born-Indian-girl to play the heroine. Since most of the film happens in Canada, we are also contemplating having technicians based there. We are in the process and will be finalising them as early as possible. "We are two passionate women with a vision to bring beautiful stories to Karnataka's big screens," says Jayashree, who plans to begin shooting in the by end of August.

Diganth meanwhile is waiting for the release of Yogaraj Bhat's Gaalipata 2. He is currently shooting for debutant director Anand Mishra's paranormal thriller, tentatively titled Trin Trin.

Varun Tej's Ghani to release in Kannada

CE FEATURES

VARUN Tej's upcoming boxing drama Ghani is hitting the screens on April 8. Directed by debutant Kiran Korrapati, the film has Varun in the titular role of that of a professional boxer. The film marks the debut of Allu Arjun's eldest brother and Allu Aravind's son Venkatesh (Bobby) and Siddhu Muddha as the producers. "We finalised the script four years ago. There were hardly any sports films being made in Telugu. Ghani tells the story of a professional boxer, who has to overcome professional and personal hurdles to become a champion boxer. The turmoil Varun's character goes through in the process stands out," says Bobby.

The debutant producer is confident that Ghani will become a successful project. "Our film is arriving in theatres two weeks after RRR. We believe that all the movie buffs would have watched RRR by now and are waiting for a new release. The story of Ghani portrays universal emotions, including mother-son conflict, rise and fall of a boxer and his struggle to attain success," he adds.

Varun underwent physical transformation. Siddhu says, "Varun has put his heart and soul for the film. He showed no signs of inhibitions over the last four years and travelled with the character. He went to the US and trained under the 2008 Summer Olympics bronze medalist Tony Jeffries. We also roped in Neeraj Goyat, the WBC Asia Honorary Boxer 2017 as his personal trainer and Hollywood stuntman Larnell Stovall to choreograph the action sequences. It also has Upendra and Suniel Shetty in prominent roles. "Upendra, too, plays a substancial role. Their characters are connected to the story in a strong manner. Keeping in view Upendra's popularity, we are planning to dub Ghani in Kannada and release it with the Telugu version," says Siddhu.

A JOKE AND A SLAP

KIRUBHAKAR PURUSHOTHAMAN

THIS year's Oscars is not being spoken about for Jane Campion becoming the third woman filmmaker to win an Oscar nor is it being remembered for an unlikely film, CODA, featuring a predominantly deaf cast, turning out to be the first streaming film to win the top award. Instead, all the commentary is about what's being dubbed as slap-gate, the incident concerning Will Smith reacting violently to stand-up comedian Chris Rock's joke attempt on Smith's wife

"I keep getting messages about how comedians shouldn't cross the line. To me, the only line one shouldn't cross is the personal boundary. So, if a person on the road abuses my father, do I have society's permission to kill that man?" asks actor-standup comic Karthik Kumar.

The Yaaradi Nee Mohini actor also questions why only comics are subjected to this debate time and again. "This debate doesn't occur about filmmakers or artistes. I don't know if that makes us privileged or idiotic."

Jagan Krishnan believes that sympathy should be extended to both parties in the incident. "It is something that happened at the Oscars and I look at this as an isolated incident. One has to extend the same empathy to Smith as well. You will never know what kind of mental space Smith was in to do what he did."

Popular stand-up comic Aravind (SA) points out the arbitrary nature of that boundary. "There's no joke that's made without a line. Some feel Chris Rock crossed a line with a joke. So, that is where they draw their line. That line is subjective.

When asked if Jada's honour can be used as a justification for Will's action, stand-up comedian Syama Hairini CH, the runner-up of Comicstaan Tamil, says, "It's a tricky question because if he had kept quiet, then people would have blamed him for not standing up. Now, they are terming it as 'taking away her agency'.

Actor and comedian Mayakrishnan stands against violence of any type. "All violence is wrong. Chris' joke was insensitive and yes, it was arrogant and irresponsible of him to joke about her health condition. There are alternatives that are more constructive than violence though. I am glad Will Smith apologised to Chris and I hope Chris does too. Having said that, I like how the violence was called out by the people unanimously. I feel somewhere that people chose humanity and kindness over violence even on social media. It's time to move on and not show hatred towards Will or Chris for whatever happened. It is over and it has been called out and apologies were made."
